Gary Larson was born in Tacoma [August 14, 1950] he grew up on Fox Island, Washington he attended Curtis Senior High School before he attended Washington State University where he graduated with a degree in communications [1972]

Gary was working in a music store he took a few days off after he realized how much he hated his job he decided to try cartooning and drew six cartoons that he submitted to Seattle-based Pacific Search (now Pacific Northwest Magazine)

Larson next submitted his work to The Seattle Times under the title Nature's Way [1979]

Gary Larson syndicated The Far Side -- January 1, 1980 its themes were often surreal as the behavior of supposedly superior humans was compared with animals his single-panel cartoon was published internationally for fifteen years (he produced more than twenty-three books of collected cartoons with a combined sales of more than forty-five million copies Gary Larson ended the series when he retired [January 1, 1995])

Largest age group was 20-29 years old with 790,539 people followed those 30-39 age group at 628,027 people

Single men significantly outnumbered single women in the 1980 census, but there were more than five times as many widows as widowers:

total males over age fourteen: 1,239,721

- Married: 947,501 (60.01 percent)
- Single: 461,462 (29.22 percent) poverty level for individuals was established at $3,686 there were 78,194 families below poverty level (7.2 percent of Washington's families)

ECONOMIC RECESSION SEVERELY IMPACTS THE WORLD

World economic development had suffered from a shortage of oil led by the [1973] oil crisis when an Arab oil embargo was imposed and the [1979] energy crisis when Iran nearly stopped producing oil U.S. economy was suffering from "stagflation" a situation where the inflation rate remained high, economic growth rate slowed down and unemployment remained high [[1970s] and [early 1980s] inflation had more than doubled after the [1973] oil embargo shock but it reached a startling 11.3% [1979] and then soared to 13.5% [1980] stagflation caused a dilemma for economic policy since actions designed to lower inflation could aggravate unemployment, and vice versa Primary cause of the recession in the United States was a monetary policy established by the Federal Reserve System to control high inflation as interest rates were substantially increased to reduce high inflation unemployment remained at historically high levels several key industries experienced a downturn many of the economic sectors that supplied these basic industries were hard-hit

TIME MAGAZINE NAMES KHOMEINI ITS "MAN OF THE YEAR"

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini was named Time's "Man of the Year" -- January 7, 1980 in the article it was noted: "The dour old man of 79 shuffles in his heel-less slippers to the rooftop and waves apathetically to crowds that surround his modest home in the holy city of Qum. The hooded eyes that glare out so balefully from beneath his black turban are often turned upward, as if seeking inspiration from on high--which, as a religious mystic, he indeed is. To Iran's Shi'ite Muslim laity, he is the Imam, an ascetic spiritual leader whose teachings are unquestioned. To hundreds of millions of others, he is a fanatic whose judgments are harsh, reasoning bizarre and conclusions surreal. He is learned in the ways of Shari'a (Islamic law) and Platonic philosophy, yet astonishingly ignorant of and indifferent to non-Muslim culture. Rarely has so improbable a leader shaken the world."

ANOTHER TRIAL FOR TED BUNDY ON MURDER CHARGES

Ted Bundy was tried in Orlando, Florida for the killing of junior high student Kimberly Ann Leach this time Bundy decided not to represent himself -- January 7, 1980 his defense team's strategy was to plead not guilty by reason of insanity

Ted became increasingly agitated throughout the trial at one point he even lost control and stood up yelling at a witness with whom he disagreed

WASHINGTON STATE LEGISLATURE GOES INTO REGULAR SESSION

Once again the State House of Representatives faced co-Speakers of the House -- January 14, 1980 Republican Duane Berentson and Democrat John Bagnariol continued to share leadership (before that fall's election ended the tie)

Controversial matters were generally avoided much of the legislation that passed did so unanimously or by large margins one big exception was the budget that had to be passed and on which the House was deeply divided sixty day regular session was followed by sixty-three days of special session until Berentson reluctantly voted with the forty-nine House Democrats to allow the session to adjourn

U.S. SUPREME COURT ASSOCIATE JUSTICE WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS PASSES AWAY

Yakima Valley raised William O. Douglas was a self-professed outdoorsman Justice Douglas was well recognized as an outdoorsman and he was known for his adventures he enjoyed and wrote about his wilderness excursions around the country and the world according to The Appalachian Trail Thru-Hiker's Companion, a guide published by the Appalachian Trail Club, Douglas hiked the entire 2,000-mile trail from Georgia to Maine because of his long-standing love of the wilderness and his high-profile public position,

Douglas became one of the early leading voices of the growing environmental movement

Justice Douglas had a special affection for the south central Cascade Mountains he had traveled since boyhood even as a Justice he spent long summers at his Goose Prairie retreat along the Bumping River throughout his controversial life Douglas returned regularly to the Pacific Northwest to spend his summers in the Wallowa and Cascade mountains

During his lifetime, Associate Justice William O. Douglas found the time to travel extensively he discovered he could fund the foreign travels which he loved by publishing books on people and places he visited many of Douglas' thirty-two books and writings focused on nature and promoted conservation in his book My Wilderness: The Pacific West [published in 1960] he wrote: "I realized from my day's journey how badly we need high alpine meadows which can only be reached on foot, how badly we need peaks which can only be conquered by daring. The passion to bring 'civilization' into our wilderness areas is one sign that we Americans are getting soft and flabby. We want everything made easy. Yet success is worth having only when it comes through great effort and hazardous exertion.

“The logistics of abundance call for mass production. This means the ascendancy of the machine. The risk of man’s becoming subservient to it are great. The struggle of our time is to maintain an economy of plenty and yet keep man’s freedom intact. Roadless areas are one pledge to freedom. With them intact, man need not become an automation. There he can escape the machine and become once more a vital individual. If these inner sanctuaries are invaded by the machine, there is no escape. For men and civilization will be molded by mass compulsions.”

other books reviewed his legal views and court decisions still others addressed what in his mind it meant to be an American he also wrote two autobiographical volumes which reflected his political philosophy

Go East Young Man [1974] and Of Men and Mountains [1982] these autobiographical books are accounts of his early life and mountain adventures that are deeply personal and revealing and contributed to the Douglas legend he noted: “When a man knows how to live dangerously, he is not afraid to die.

When he is not afraid to die, he is, strangely, free to live.”

U.S. Supreme Court Associate Justice William O. Douglas passed away at the age of eighty-one -- January 19, 1980 he is buried at Arlington National Cemetery following his death, the federal court building in Yakima was named in his honor

William O. Douglas Wilderness located in the Cascade Mountains near his beloved Goose Prairie also commemorates Douglas and the wild areas he championed

LIFE IN IRAN UNDER AYATOLLAH RUHOLLAH KHOMEINI

Under Khomeini’s rule, Sharia (Islamic law) was introduced -- February 1, 1980

TED BUNDY HEARS THE VERDICT IN THE KILLING OF KIMBERLY ANN LEACH

Exactly one month following the opening of the trial,

Judge Wallace Jopling asked the jury to attempt to reach a verdict

After less than eight hours of deliberation the jury returned a verdict of guilty -- February 7, 1980 principally due to the testimony of an eyewitness who saw him leading Leach

from the schoolyard to his van

During the penalty phase of the trial, Bundy took advantage of an obscure Florida law that provided that a marriage declaration in court in the presence of a judge constituted a legal marriage former Washington State Department of Employment Security employee Carole Ann Boone had moved to Florida to be near Ted Bundy she had testified on his behalf as a character witness at a previous trial this time as she was testifying, Bundy asked her to marry him she accepted and Bundy declared to the court that they were legally married

TED BUNDY IS SENTENCED TO DEATH

Theodore Robert “Ted” Bundy was sentenced to death for a third time -- February 10, 1980

As the sentence was announced Bundy reportedly stood and shouted,

“Tell the jury they were wrong!”<sup>1</sup>

(This third death sentence would be the one ultimately carried out more than nine years later)

TED BUNDY BEGINS TO PROVIDE INFORMATION ABOUT HIS KILLINGS

Shortly after the beginning of his long appeals process in the death of Kimberly Ann Leach

Ted Bundy initiated a series of interviews with various police detectives

Bundy spoke primarily in the third person to avoid “the stigma of confession”<sup>2</sup>

he began to divulge details of his crimes and thought processes

Ayatollah Khomeini proclaimed Iran's government officials in control of the hostage situation and demanded the United States return the Shah of Iran for trial in Iran for crimes against the nation

(although the Shah died a few months later the crisis continued) -- February 23, 1980 Khomeini supporters named the American Embassy a "Den of Espionage" and published details regarding armaments, espionage equipment and many volumes of official and classified documents which they located there

COALITION AGAINST OIL PRODUCTION (CAOP) SOFTENS ITS ANTI-PIPELINE POSITION

Alaska's Northern Tier Pipeline Company received CAOP's approval to begin construction of a pipeline across Puget Sound -- 1980 coalition's lobbyist resigned because he believed CAOP had abandoned its environmental goals Seattle Audubon Society withdrew its CAOP membership eight environmental organizations, nine Indian tribes and two local governments tried to block the pipeline plan through litigation

MOUNT ST. HELENS SHOWS SIGNS OF AWAKENING

Indians were aware of volcanic activity at Mt. St. Helens going back thousands of years they developed several remarkably similar legends to explain the mysterious activity several of these events took place between [1800] and [1857] minor explosions were reported in [1898], [1903], and [1921] these were probably steam-driven and not magmatic (molten rock) eruptions Mount St. Helens received its European name from British Captain George Vancouver [1792] in honor of his friend Alleyne Fitzherbert (Baron St. Helens) -- British ambassador to Spain Mount St. Helens was shaken by a series of small earthquakes -- beginning March 16, 1980 a substantial quake of magnitude 4.2 on the Richter Scale shook the mountain -- March 20 this was the first substantial indication in 123 years of Mount St. Helens' awakening scientists converged on the mountain by droves Governor Dixie Lee Ray issued evacuation orders for a large area surrounding the mountain Steam explosions opened the 9,677-foot tall mountain's crater peak Mount St. Helens began spewing fumes and lava -- March 27, 1980 for the next few weeks steam and ash periodically vented out of the growing crater

WASHINGTON STATE LEGISLATIVE LEADERS ARE INDICTED FOR RACKETEERING

Washington State Co-Speaker of the House of Representatives Democrat John Bagnariol and Senate Majority Leader Democrat Gordon Walgren were named

along with lobbyist Patrick Gallagher in a federal racketeering indictment from an undercover FBI operation -- April 2, 1980

FBI agents were asked to investigate gambling and political corruption in Vancouver, Washington FBI Agent Harold Heald, who headed the operation, posed as the representative of "So-Cal," a fictitious California company that wanted to acquire and expand legalized gambling outlets<sup>3</sup> Heald was introduced to Gallagher, who in turn introduced the undercover agent to political leaders Bagnariol and Walgren in taped conversations it was agreed that the legislators would arrange for passage of legalized gambling legislation and the gambling would be controlled by So-Cal each of the three accused would receive six percent of the gambling profits So-Cal made Both Democratic legislative leaders were among the most powerful politicians in the state and both had been planning to seek higher office in the fall Bagnariol planned to challenge Democratic Governor Dixie Lee Ray Walgren planned to run for State Attorney General as then-Attorney General Slade Gordon was filing to run against U.S. Senator Warren G. Magnuson Facing trial in United States District Court, in what became known as the Gamscam case, Walgren, Bagnariol and Gallagher adamantly denied they had done anything wrong they denounced the FBI investigation

AMERICA ATTEMPTS TO RETRIEVE THE HOSTAGES FROM IRAN

After negotiations with Iran to free the American hostages failed President Jimmy Carter severed diplomatic relations with Iran and imposed economic sanctions -- April 7, 1980 President Carter authorized a top-secret mission, named Operation Eagle Claw, to free the hostages

OPERATION EAGLE CLAW SETS OUT TO RESCUE THE IRANIAN HOSTAGES

An attempt to put an end to the Iranian hostage crisis by rescuing fifty-two Americans being held hostage by radical students in the American Embassy in Tehran, Iran Operation Eagle Claw called for a minimum of six Delta Force helicopters eight were sent in -- April 24, 1980 two helicopters could not navigate through a very fine sand cloud one helicopter was forced to crash land second helicopter was forced to return to the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz six helicopters reached the initial rendezvous point, Desert One, but one of them had damaged its hydraulic systems

spares were on the crippled helicopters During the planning stages, it was determined that if fewer than six helicopters were available then the mission would be automatically aborted even though only four were absolutely necessary commanders on the scene requested to abort the mission -- President Carter gave his approval As the U.S. Delta Force prepared to leave Iran, one of the helicopters crashed into a C-130 Hercules transport aircraft containing fuel and a group of servicemen resulting fire killed eight American soldiers and destroyed the two aircraft involved as a result in the remaining helicopters were left behind -- April 25, 1980 failure of the rescue mission was announced by the press-- 1:00 a.m. April 26 Embassy hostages were scattered across Iran making a second rescue attempt impossible failure of Operation Eagle Claw and the humiliating public debacle that ensued damaged American prestige world and negatively impacted President Carter's reelection campaign

MOUNT ST. HELENS BEGINS TO SWELL

North side of the mountain began to bulge -- Goat Rocks area expanded five feet per day volcano had ballooned into a deformed mass of magma (molten rock), explosive gases and increasingly hot groundwater -- end of April 1980 Mount St. Helen's snowy profile was peppered black by ash and a stream of melting glacial ice began coursing down its north side Mount St. Helens intermittently spewed ash and steam in bursts this activity continued intermittently for the next several days (About 10,000 earthquakes were recorded through [mid-May])

MOLTEN ROCK BEGINS TO RISE INSIDE MOUNT ST. HELENS

Magma rising in the mountain exerted pressure -- May 1980 North side of Mount St. Helens bulged out 300 feet and increased at a rate of five to six feet a day scientists confidently predicted an eruption would take place -- but no one knew the magnitude

MOUNT ST. HELENS ERUPTS

Violent explosion five hundred times more powerful than the Nagasaki bomb, equivalent to more than thirty tons of TNT, occurred -- 8:32 a.m. Sunday, May 18, 1980 Several events happened almost simultaneously:<sup>4</sup> •hot gases (660 degrees F.) and pulverized pieces of the mountain were blasted to the north

at speeds of at least 300 mph -- this blast was so powerful that all trees and vegetation in a six mile radius to the north of Mount St. Helens were vaporized 8.8 billion cubic yards of pulverized rock, dirt and ice blew into the air;

- sound and shock waves shot straight upward;
- top of the mountain, composed of rock debris, snow and ice rushed down at speeds up to 200 mph most of the landslide flowed to the northwest following the North Fork of the Toutle River an avalanche covered a twenty-four square mile area an average thickness of 150 feet but reached 600 feet thick in some places

- in moments Mount St. Helens dropped from Washington's fifth highest mountain (9,677 feet) to being the thirtieth highest peak at 8,364 feet

David Crockett, a cameraman for Seattle's KOMO TV, stood at the base of the mountain he heard a deafening roar and instantly saw a sea of mud rushing toward him he found safety on a piece of dry land between two fingers of the mud river filming the blast, he spoke into the camera's microphone: "I am walking toward the only light I can see. I can hear the mountain rumble. At this very moment I have to say 'Honest to God, I believe I am dead.' The ash in my eyes burns my eyes! Oh dear God, this is hell! It's very, very hard to breathe and very dark. If I could only breathe air. God, just give me a breath! I will try the radio. Mayday! Mayday! Ash is coming down on me heavily. It's either dark or I am dead. God. I want to live!"<sup>5</sup> miraculously Crockett was rescued by helicopter hours later

As Crockett was filming, volcanologist David Johnston was five miles away observing an enlarged bulge on the slope when the eruption occurred

Johnston managed to radio out a single message: "Vancouver, Vancouver, this is it!"

David Johnston was covered with ash and lava Moments later Jean Penna was driving down the road when the sky grew very dark

Penna later said, "In the time it took me to get from my apartment to my mother's house, it went black. All of a sudden this powder began to fall, just like snow. It was 75 degrees outside and pitch black...."<sup>6</sup>

AN ASH PLUME FILLS THE AIR

Ash roared out of the mountain -- repeated clouds were sent seventy-five thousand feet into the sky In less than five minutes after the eruption, the blast reached out eighteen to twenty-three miles killing nearly all vegetation trees, mainly Douglas Firs, some 200 feet high, were stripped of branches and bark and blown down like toothpicks some old growth trees were picked up, roots and all, and thrown over a ridge 1,500 feet high<sup>7</sup> Within fifteen minutes the ash plume reached a height of fifteen miles above the mountain dense clouds of black ash blown east blocked the sun -- day was turned into total darkness powdery ash began to fall out of the “clouds” onto the countryside ten inches of ash accumulated on the ground within ten miles of the mountain, within sixty miles of the mountain the ash fall was one inch within 300 miles one-half inch of ash was measured It took about an hour for the sound and shock wave of the explosion to bounce off the upper atmosphere and reach as far as King County shock waves rattled windows and caused dishes to fall from shelves sound of the Mount St. Helens eruption would be heard as far away as Saskatchewan

ASH FALL IMPACTS YAKIMA ABOUT AN HOUR AFTER THE ERUPTION

As reported by Yakima City Manager Dick Zais, “By noon, the City was engulfed in darkness and communications by home telephone were impossible. It was like an eclipse of the sun that lingered -- a blinding blizzard and a thundering electrical storm all in one. Street lights came on automatically, traffic stopped, and a strange quiet fell on our community; everywhere a talcum-like, sandy, gray powder kept accumulating. Cars, trucks, buses, and trains all stopped, and planes were re-routed away from the ash cloud.

“From noon until 6:00 a.m. the following morning, the City was in total darkness. The ash fall on the City was gritty and light and difficult to sweep or shovel, especially when dry. Shifting winds blew the dust everywhere, severely impairing visibility and driving in our area. It was exceedingly harmful and abrasive to mechanical and electrical equipment, especially the motors of vehicles, aircraft and electronic systems.

“The ash fallout was especially crippling -- Yakima received nearly three inches of this material in the first 24 hours following the explosion. We estimated that several million tons of ash was deposited on the entire region. Initially, most citizens were caught unaware and were confused about what effects or risks the ash fall could present to themselves and their property. It appeared serene and many thought it would be washed away with the next rainstorm.”<sup>8</sup>

DEVASTATION CONTINUES TO ERUPT FROM MT. ST. HELENS

Ash eruptions continued roaring out of the mountain for nine hours thousands of miles surrounding the mountain was covered with a layer of ash ash fall reached the Great Plains about 900 miles from the mountain ash cloud took three days to reach the East Coast and fifteen days to circumnavigate the world<sup>9</sup> Vessel traffic on the Columbia River between Longview and Astoria was paralyzed by a twenty mile long log jam of floating debris salmon and trout died by the millions Damage estimates exceeded $3 billion boiling gas and mud scour 200 square miles of forest 150 square miles of timber was destroyed some 1,000 miles of state highways and roads were closed -- some for months highway repairs alone ran into hundreds of millions of dollars while the official casualty count was fifty-seven at least sixty people killed was more probable

DEVASTATION REACHES RITZVILLE, WASHINGTON

Ritzville was directly in the path of the Mount St. Helen's ash cloud -- May 18, 1980 it was hit harder than nearly any other spot in Eastern Washington four to six inches of ash covered every surface with drifts as high as two feet<sup>10</sup> When the mountain blew, thousands of motorists were traveling across the state on weekend outings they were forced to pull into Ritzville when visibility was reduced to zero Ritzville's motels were quickly overwhelmed hundreds of people were herded into the school gymnasium -- which quickly filled crowds were gathered in every restaurant and church and residents opened up their homes Ritzville's twenty-bed hospital was crowded with people suffering from respiratory problems hospital corridors were jammed with those who had nowhere else to go

FRUSTRATED MOTORISTS ATTEMPT TO FLEE FROM RITZVILLE

Winds swirled ash and dust throughout Ritzville even opening a door caused eyes and throats to burn still more than 2,500 motorists (more than the normal population of Ritzville) remain stranded<sup>11</sup> Hundreds of people become so tired and impatient that they defied police orders as they attempted to drive out of Ritzville -- May 20, 1980 despite the fact that Interstate 90 and other roads were officially closed due to ash fall most of them did not get more than a few miles before the gritty blowing ash forces them to return many motorists end up stalled on the shoulders of the road when their engines clog with ash and had to be rescued fewer than 100 made it as far as the Schrag Rest Area about twenty-two miles west Shoveling the ash to remove it proved to be very difficult work -- there was nowhere to put it when trucks plowed it to the side of the road it just blew back however, over the next few days most of the stranded travelers trickled out of Ritzville although abandoned cars continued to litter the freeway

PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER SURVEYS THE SCENE AT MOUNT ST. HELENS

Air Force One carrying the president and U.S. Senator Warren G. Magnuson arrived in Portland, Oregon -- May 1980

U.S. Senators Warren Magnuson and Henry Jackson had already acquired a commitment of $1 billion in federal funds for relief of those stricken by the eruption

As he exited the airplane to the runway, Maggy stumbled -- film footage of the event was put to active use in the campaign to unseat Washington's senior U.S. senator Washington voters saw a frail seventy-five-year-old man Washington's National Guard troops flew the president to inspect the scene of devastation he reflected, “The Moon looks like a golf course compared to what's up there. It's the worst thing I have ever seen.”<sup>12</sup>

WASHINGTON STATE IS INTERESTED IN BUYING McNEIL ISLAND FEDERAL PRISON

it lasted for ten months -- June 1980 to [March 1981] Bianchi attempted to influence judicial proceedings by making contradictory statements to destroy his credibility and have the case against Buono dismissed It was during the prolonged preliminary hearing that Bianchi met Veronica Lyn Compton, age 24, a self-proclaimed actress, poet and playwright she sent Bianchi a letter at the Los Angeles County Jail, asking if he would read her screenplay about a female serial killer, called The Mutilated Cutter, and help her with characterization the plot centered on the “Hillside Strangler” being still on the loose and killing women Bianchi and Veronica Lyn Compton concocted a scheme she would fly to Bellingham, strangle a girl with a length of white clothesline and plant evidence to simulate the Mandic/Wilder murders she was to send letters and cassette tapes to various locations in Los Angeles and Bellingham with messages that the wrong man was in jail and the “strangler” would strike again

REVIEW OF RESCUE SERVICES AT THE COLUMBIA RIVER’S CAPE DISAPPOINTMENT<sup>14</sup>

Early rescue efforts at the mouth of the Columbia River, the “Graveyard of the Pacific” were informal United State Naval Lieutenant Charles Wilkes of the United States Exploring Expedition [1841] had left a small boat from the wrecked USS Peacock in the hope that local residents would use it to save the crews of ships that foundered offshore local resident Joe Munson began a volunteer rescue program [1865] that lasted until [1882] he used a metal lifeboat salvaged from the [March 1865] wreck of the sailing bark Industry Astoria citizens raised money to equip the boat U.S. Army provided free moorage at Baker’s Bay Congress appropriated money to establish the U.S. Life-Saving Service [1874] federal government support for the Baker’s Bay rescue efforts came [1877] when federal funds were used to build and equip a facility that the volunteers could use this was one of the first life-saving stations authorized for the Pacific Coast Baker’s Bay station’s first full-time, paid Life-Saving Service crew was employed [1882] it became one of seventeen stations nationwide to receive Life-Saving Service’s first thirty-four foot motor-powered lifeboats were put into place [1907] this was upgraded to a thirty-six foot vessel [1909] When the Revenue Cutter Service merged to form the United States Coast Guard [1915] Cape Disappointment station continued in operation after the U.S. Life-Saving Service Coast Guard’s Thirteenth District, which includes Oregon and Washington, began to replace its thirty-six foot motor lifeboats with new steel-hulled forty-four-footers [1960s] was an ideal location for the proposed U.S. Coast Guard National Motor Lifeboat School -- 1980 Originally equipped with five forty-four-foot Motor Lifeboats new forty-seven-foot boats were developed and tested [late 1990s] as the U.S Coast Guard Station's rescue operation continued at Cape Disappointment Coast Guard continues to provide services at the mouth of the Columbia River with a maritime law enforcement presence near the approaches to the Columbia River and search and rescue missions within fifty nautical miles of the Columbia River entrance

CAMPAIGN FOR U.S. SENATOR MAGNUSON'S SEAT

Senator Warren G. Magnuson at age seventy-five was seeking office for a seventh term Magnuson's health was a concern during his Senate race besides his committee assignments, he was president pro tempore of the Senate third in line to the presidency after the Vice President and Speak of the House when asked about the fact he was slowing down he responded "The meeting doesn't start until I get there."<sup>16</sup> to argue the state's positions before the Supreme Court of the United States and for prevailing in those efforts

STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION IN ABERDEEN

Delegates to the state Democratic convention met in the Aberdeen High School auditorium U.S. Senator Warren Magnuson opened his keynote speech with a list of accomplishments and jobs as yet unfinished that required his reelection

her smile vanished and delegates grew uncomfortable as Maggy spoke: "This state is not going to be a dumping ground for nuclear waste and there are not going to be any supertankers on Puget Sound.... Little monkeys in trees have thrown coconuts at me from time to time -- I've even been called a dictator! (by Governor Ray) wild cheering filled the room, "Yeah. Now one more thing. While I've been back in Washington working on problems of the state and nation, I hear that some have been bartering my job. Well. I want to tell the governor and any other governor there ain't gonna be any vacancy in the U.S. Senate!"<sup>17</sup>

Governor Ray bolted out a back door to a waiting car -- delegates had witnesses her political death

BOEING'S PLANT 2 BECOMES OBSOLETE

Located about a mile up the Duwamish River from Boeing's original Plant 1 [1917] to [1965], Boeing's Plant 2 built in [1936 had a glorious history burlap houses and chicken-wire lawns had camouflaged its rooftops during World War II when Boeing produced 6,981 B-17 Flying Fortresses out of Plant 2

Plant 2 was where Boeing assembled a variety of other aircraft:

- Model 307 Stratoliner, which was the first successful pressurized production airplane;

- Model 377 Stratocruiser airliner;
- B-47 Bomber -- the first large swept-wing jet;
- KC-97, which was the first mass-produced aerial tanker;
- B-52 Stratofortress which served the Air Force for more than six decades;
- and the first 737 jet airliners-- Boeing's best-selling jetliner

However, Plant 2 was headed toward obsolescence within fifteen years after it opened although it had expanded from its original 60,000 square feet to more than 1.7 million, it was too small for modern aircraft as the roof beams were just thirty-five feet high Boeing's prototype B-52 Bomber was forty-eight feet tall as a temporary fix engineers put hinges on the early B-52s' vertical fins so they could be wheeled out of the factory

Plant 2 became overshadowed by Boeing's nearby complexes for military work, research, offices, flight testing and aircraft deliveries

Plant 2 was used as a machine shop into the 1980s, but was emptied of even that work as operations shifted to bigger, more modern facilities Eventually the building fell into decay due to lack of adequate maintenance and earthquakes broken water mains sometimes flooded the tunnels which led to other buildings on the site (Boeing Plant 2 was demolished as part of a cleanup of the Duwamish watershed [July 26, 2010]) as China gained most-favored trade status from the U.S. Department of State -- September 1980 agreements on maritime affairs, civil aviation links, and textile matters, as well as a bilateral consular convention were agreed upon Maggy made another speech: “For twenty-five years I’ve urged the resumption of non-strategic trade with China. We simply could not go on ignoring nearly one-third of the world’s population.... [T]rade and cultural exchanges reduce tensions and lead the way to expanded peaceful relations.”<sup>20</sup>

Unites States dialogue with the People’s Republic of China broadened to cover a wide range of issues

WAR IN THE MIDDLE EAST IMPACTS AMERICANS

Bad feeling had long been evident as the Iraqi government and Iranian governments suspiciously guarded their mutual border as diplomatic relations deteriorated and border disputes increased

Iraq under President Saddam Hussein was becoming one of the most feared powers in the Middle East and an economic contender in the world

Iran's vast oil fields and close trade ties with the Soviet Union were a prime target for Iraq

Iraq initiated strategic airstrikes against Iran -- September 22, 1980 and began a military invasion the next day setting off the (First) Persian Gulf War (fighting continued until [August 20, 1988] making this the longest conventional war of the 20th Century killing millions)

This war was fought at a great cost in lives and economic damage in both nations half a million Iraqi and Iranian soldiers and civilians were believed to have died in the war many more were injured -- but it brought neither victory nor a change in borders

Tactics were often those developed in World War I large scale trench warfare, manned machine-gun posts, bayonet charges, barbed wire across trenches, human wave attacks across no-man's land and extensive use of chemical weapons such as mustard gas were unleashed by the Iraqi government against Iranian troops and civilians

Although the United States supplied weapons to both sides over the course of the conflict, it primarily favored Iraq -- which led to further anti-American resentment in Iran

“COPYCAT STRANGLER” MURDER ATTEMPT IS MADE IN BELLINGHAM<sup>21</sup>

at the Shangri-La Downtown Motel, 611 E. Holly Street there, Compton managed to tie Breed's hands and twice attempted to strangle her

Breed was bigger and unusually strong --she managed to struggle free and escaped

Compton quickly disappeared from Bellingham but she was easy to trace she was arrested at her Carson, California home -- October 2, 1980 on a Whatcom County first-degree attempted murder warrant and held on $500,000 bail media, dubbed Compton the “Copycat Strangler”

FEDERAL JUDGE GEORGE BOLDT DECISION PHASE II IS UPHELD BY JUDGE ORRICK

(In United States v. Washington State U.S. District Court Judge George Boldt upheld Indian fishing rights provided in the treaties written by Issac Stevens acting as governor of Washington Territory and Superintendent of Indian Affairs [1854-1855] however, rather than make a sweeping all-inclusive ruling, Judge Boldt had left specific questions of merit in the case to be considered by other courts Federal District Judge William Orrick, who had replaced retired Judge George Boldt, made his ruling in the Boldt Decision "Phase II"<sup>22</sup> he decided Indian treaty rights extended to environmental conservation -- September 26, 1980 it was a responsibility of the federal government to provide for suitable salmon habitat further, a portion of hatchery raised salmon should be allocated to the Indians because these fish existed to replenish the dwindling number of salmon to everyone Sixteen fishing industry companies formed the Northwest Water Resources Committee to support an appeal by the state of Judge Orrick's ruling Washington's U.S. Senator Republican Slade Gorton and Democrat Congressman Don Bonker introduced bills into both houses of congress to end the treaties

JURY REACHES A VERDICT IN THE GAMSCAM TRIAL

Co-Speaker of the House John Bagnariol, State Senate Majority Leader Gordon Walgren and lobbyist Patrick Gallagher faced federal racketeering charges<sup>23</sup> Jury in the case rendered its verdict -- October 3, 1980 lobbyist Patrick Gallagher was guilty on fourteen counts co-Speaker of the State House of Representatives John Bagnariol was found guilty on nine counts Senate Majority Leader Gordon Walgren was acquitted of five of the thirteen charges as jurors were unable to agree on five additional charges they were dismissed but Walgren was found guilty of racketeering, mail fraud and a Travel Act violation Walgren announced that he was abandoning his re-election campaign for the State Senate

DEMOCRATS SUE TO REMOVE GORDON WALGREN FROM THE BALLOT

Although State Senator Gordon Walgren had been convicted of three felonies, Washington State Supreme Court ruled that he must remain on the ballot for re-election as the Democratic candidate -- October 22, 1980 even though Walgren had suspended his campaign after the jury verdict was delivered<sup>24</sup> Republican State Representative Ellen Craswell ran against Walgren in the general election she was known as one of the most conservative members of the State House of Representatives

NATIONAL ELECTION CHANGES THE POLITICAL LANDSCAPE

Ronald Reagan led the Republican Party to a landslide victory -- November 4, 1980

President Carter's failure to resolve the Iran Hostage Crisis damaged his leadership

Washington State supported Reagan as President Jimmy Carter was defeated

Reagan ran on a campaign of "getting government off the backs of the American People"<sup>25</sup> and a tougher U.S. stance in foreign relations

WASHINGTON STATE VOTERS JOIN THE REPUBLICAN LANDSLIDE

For governor, former- King County Executive Republican John Spellman -- November 4, 1980 defeated Democrat Jim McDermott (who bested Governor Dixie Lee Ray in the primary election)

U.S. Senator Warren G. "Maggy" Magnuson, the most powerful man the U.S. Senate, had been Washington's Democratic senator for thirty-six years and a member of the U.S. House of Representatives for eight years before that Democrat Senator Magnuson was defeated by Republican challenger Slade Gordon by a 54% to 46% margin as the GOP gained national control of the U.S. Senate for the first since [1954] voters felt Maggy was too old and they noted, "we still have 'Scoop' in the Senate"

(U.S. Senator Gorton served one term [1981-1987])

In the U.S. House of Representatives Republicans narrowed the margin of the Democratic majority to thirty-three seats in Washington State five of six Democratic incumbent congressmen were reelected as was Republican Joel Pritchard in Seattle's First Congressional District in the Fourth District Republican Sid Morrison from Zillah was elected to Congress after defeating incumbent Democrat Mike McCormack

(Morrison served six terms in the U.S. House of Representatives [1981-1993])

GAMSCAM HAS AN EFFECT ON STATE ELECTIONS IN WASHINGTON

Gamskam trial of the State Co-Speaker of the House John Bagnariol, lobbyist Patrick Gallagher and State Senate Majority Leader Gordon Walgren turned what would have been a bad year for Democrats into a Republican rout -- November 4, 1980

Bagnariol lost his seat in the Democratic Primary Election [September 1980]

Walgren was badly beaten in the General Election by Republican Ellen Craswell

Washington State Senate saw the Republicans gain five seats

Democrats held only a one vote majority -- twenty-five to twenty-four

In the State House of Representatives Republicans picked up seven seats to give the GOP a fifty-two to forty-six majority that the state lay claim to 311,000 acres of federal land in Eastern Washington

SJR 132 read: “Shall the constitution be amended to provide that the state no longer disclaims all rights to unappropriated federal public lands?”

this proposal was defeated

Pierce County voters approved a Home Rule Charter (constitution) for of government by a sixty-two percent margin -- November 4, 1980 new charter did away with the three-commissioner system of government which was believed to foster political favoritism and corruption

Pierce County became the only county in Washington State with an appointed rather than an elected sheriff

(First Pierce County executive to be elected under the new charter was Booth Gardner who later served two terms as Washington’s governor [1985-1993])

(Seven members were elected to the County Council three commissioners who were in office when the new charter began remained in office four new members were added to the County Council by the new Charter each of the seven Council Districts held about 60,000 citizens all officers’ terms began [May 1, 1981]) faced twenty-five years in prison when he decided to cooperate with the FBI -- November 1980 he provided information that saved lives and resulted in numerous arrests, he prevented two major jailbreaks, and the murder of at least one prison guard and two inmates who were government witnesses (U.S. District Court Judge Walter T. McGovern at the request of U.S. Attorney Gene Anderson and the FB reduced Williams sentence to time served: four years [February 1983] because his cooperation endangered his life, Williams was given a new identity by the U.S. Marshal Service and put in the Witness Protection Program Williams gave a deposition in the civil lawsuits against Pierce County he alleged that more than forty Washington State and Pierce County officials were involved in fostering The Enterprise's illegal activities) crime boss John J. Carbone was released on parole [December 20, 1991] he died at Western State Hospital in Tacoma [August 18, 1998] disgraced Pierce County Sheriff George Janovich was released on parole [December 19, 1986] after serving six years of his sentence and was kept segregated from the general prison population because of his thirty years with the Pierce County Sheriff's Department Janovich died in Gig Harbor of complications from a ruptured appendix [June 19, 2005])

U.S. DISTRICT JUDGE WALTER T. McGOVERN SENTENCES THE GAMSCAM DEFENDANTS

John Bagnariol Gordon Walgren and Patrick Gallagher were sentenced to five years in federal prison by U.S. District Judge Walter T. McGovern<sup>27</sup> -- November 24, 1980 During his sentencing hearing Gordon Walgren moved for a new trial District Court Judge McGovern denied the request this denial was appealed to the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals which overturned two of Walgren's three convictions as the case did not meet the necessary burden of proof (Walgren served two years in federal prison before being released on parole after his release, Walgren successfully petitioned for reinstatement as an attorney he continued his career as a lawyer and lobbyist but he did not seek elective office again)<sup>28</sup>

BEATLE JOHN LENNON IS MURDERED

Popular music had been transformed by the English rock group The Beatles composed of John Lennon (rhythm guitar, vocals), Paul McCartney (bass guitar, vocals), George Harrison (lead guitar, vocals) and Ringo Starr (drums, vocals) Musician and peace activist John Lennon was shot in New York City -- December 8, 1980 after taking part in a photo shoot for the cover on Rolling Stone magazine as Lennon and his wife, Yoko Ono, returned home at The Dakota across from Central Park Lennon was shot in the back by four of five hollow-point .38 caliber bullets fired by an assassin whose reasoning remains a matter of speculation John Lennon died en route to the hospital his death triggered an unprecedented outpouring of grief around the world chanting crowds outside The Dakota disturbed Yoko she asked that they re-convene in Central Park the next Sunday for ten minutes of silent prayer

THE WORLD PAYS TRIBUTE TO JOHN LENNON

New York's Central Park, close to the scene of the shooting saw the largest group more than 225,000 gathered there For those ten minutes every radio station in New York City went off the air

At least two Beatles fans committed suicide after the murder leading Yoko Ono to make a public appeal asking mourners not to give in to despair (Mark Chapman received a life sentence, but under the terms of his guilty plea he became eligible for parole after serving twenty years Chapman has been denied parole at hearings every two years since [2000])

REGULAR SESSION OF THE WASHINGTON STATE LEGISLATURE CONVENES

Republican effort to win a majority of the State Senate was greatly aided in the [1980] election by the nationwide Republican landslide headed by Ronald Reagan

Iran, now involved in a war with neighboring Iraq, was desperate for the money they therefore appeared willing to release the hostages However, Iranians refused to communicate directly with President Jimmy Carter or his emissary at the request of the United States, Algeria agreed to act as an intermediary for the talks this arrangement slowed down the negotiating process after months of negotiations the U.S. agreed to release several billion dollars in Iranian gold Iranian officials signed an agreement with the U.S. to release the fifty-two American hostages after fourteen months of captivity -- January 19, 1981 flown next to Rhein-Main Air Base in West Germany then on to Wiesbaden USAF Hospital where former President Carter, acting as emissary, received them

NICARAGUA'S REVOLUTION CONCERNS AMERICA

(Leftist rebels, the Sandinista National Liberation Front, overthrew the last of a long line of Nicaraguan military governments -- Sandinistas took control of Nicaragua [July 1979] Sandinistas were supported in their efforts by elements of the Catholic Church and regional governments including Panama, Mexico, Costa Rica and Venezuela and by the Soviet Union Carter Administration officials, while refusing to act unilaterally, decided to work with the new Nicaraguan Sandinista government) On assuming office, President Ronald Reagan condemned the Sandinistas for joining with Cuba in supporting Marxist revolutionary movements in Latin American countries he feared that Nicaragua would become a "second Cuba" -- late January 1981 Reagan's Administration authorized the Central Intelligence Agency to have paramilitary officers begin financing, arming, training and advising anti-Sandinista rebels that were branded as counter-revolutionaries or "Contras" Congress, and a majority of the American public, did not support the Administration efforts to overthrow the Sandinista government in Nicaragua

STATE SENATOR PETER VON REICHBAUER SWITCHES POLITICAL PARTIES

Democratic State Senator Peter von Reischauer was first elected to a state senate seat for the 30th Legislative District of Vashon Island [1973]

He was considered to be a volatile personality by some fellow legislators,<sup>31</sup> von Reichbauer feuded with Democratic Senate leaders from the start of the legislative session Five weeks into the legislative session State Senator Peter von Reichbauer at a tumultuous news conference in a crowded Senate hearing room -- Friday February 13, 1981 announced his intention to join the Senate Republican caucus von Reichbauer's decision gave Senate Republicans the key twenty-fifth vote

Republicans became the majority political party in the Washington State Senate

This sudden switch in political party affiliation produced both dismay and celebration powerful State Senate Democratic committee chairmen lost their posts and some committee staff employed by the Democrats were let go

State Senator Minority Leader Jeannette Hayner became the new Senate Majority Leader

JEANNETTE HAYNER IS WASHINGTON'S FIRST WOMAN SENATE MAJORITY LEADER

Jeannette Hafner had grown up in Oregon and graduated as one of only two women in her class from the University of Oregon Law School she married law school classmate H. H. "Dutch" Hayner and worked as an attorney for the Bonneville Power Administration while Dutch served in World War II

Jeannette got involved in politics and civic life while raising their three children she served on political campaigns, on the Walla Walla school board and was active in the local Republican party she defeated three other Republicans in the [1972] primary election and was elected to an open State House of Representatives seat in the 16th Legislative District after she was re-elected to the House [1974], Republican leaders encouraged her to run for the 16th District State Senate seat [1976] she won and held the seat until her retirement [1992])<sup>32</sup> (Hayner played an important leadership role even during her first year term in the State Senate [1977])

she joined a group of fellow Republican senators who were frustrated that the party had been a minority in the Senate for over two decades they felt the existing Republican leadership was not making an effort to regain the majority group members staged a legislative “coup” against their Republican leaders at the end of the [1979] session Hayner, still in her freshman term as a State Senator, became Senate Minority Leader and the first woman in the Washington State Legislature to lead a party caucus)

Jeannette Hayner quickly proved her skills as a legislative leader, she became one of the most powerful and effective legislators in state history Because it had been so long since the Republicans held the majority of the State Senate reorganizing the entire Senate structure in the middle of the session was very difficult Hayner turned to legislative leaders from other states for advice as the new Majority Leader she managed a smooth transition and then presided over a session facing the worst budget crisis in years<sup>33</sup>

LEGAL EFFORTS ATTEMPT TO STOP THE USE OF McNEIL ISLAND AS A PRISON

Steilacoom citizens sued the Washington Department of Corrections -- February 18, 1981 they demanded an environmental impact study regarding how transferring state prisoners to McNeil Island would affect their historic town of 6,000 residents their lawsuit claimed the lack of parking and increased traffic congestion from families waiting for the passenger ferry to visit the island corrections center would pose severe problems for the community<sup>34</sup>

Washington State Attorney General’s office argued that transfer of McNeil Island from federal to state hands did not change the use of the facility thus there was no need for an Environmental Impact Statement

Superior Court Judge James McCutcheon agreed with the state -- February 27, 1981

McNEIL ISLAND FEDERAL PENITENTIARY CLOSES

U.S. Marshals transported the last four federal prisoners off the island -- March 2, 1981 Washington Department of Corrections (DOC) moved the first twenty state prisoners into the newly renamed McNeil Island Corrections Center -- March 3 inmates were put to work repairing and improving the facility which had not been maintained since the federal government had been to shut down the prison [1976]<sup>35</sup> (Control of McNeil Island prison was formally turned over to DOC [July 1, 1981])

VERONICA LYN COMPTON’S TRIAL FOR ATTEMPTED MURDER BEGINS<sup>36</sup>

Veronica Lyn Compton had plotted with serial killer Kenneth Bianchi to confuse police officers by using the same rope and copying the methods of the "Hillside Strangler" badly planned and poorly executed, the scheme failed miserably and Compton was arrested Compton's trial began in Whatcom County Superior Court -- March 9, 1981 to assure a fair trial, four men and eight women from Pierce County were impaneled Victim Kim Breed claimed Compton had tried to kill her

Compton claimed it was only a stunt to gain publicity for her screenplay, The Mutilated Cutter, Breed, Compton said, was in on the charade

WASHINGTON'S INSURANCE INDUSTRY ATTEMPTS TO ELIMINATE WORKER COVERAGE

When the insurance industry sought legislation to destroy the state's industrial insurance law that protected workers on the job, union members converged on Olympia in the largest demonstration seen to that time at the state capital -- March 1981 charter buses and cars arrived from across the state as 8,000 people gathered (Spokane union members followed up their trek to Olympia with the first Labor Day Parade there since [1915] as the one-hundred-year-old Carpenters Union led the parade of 1,500 members from over thirty unions accompanied by ten floats and three bands [September 1981] following the parade, union people picnicked at Riverfront Park (Labor Day parades were held in Spokane over the next two years)

VERONICA LYN COMPTON IS FOUND GUILTY<sup>37</sup>

After deliberating for just three hours, the jury found Compton guilty of first-degree attempted murder with a special finding of being armed with a deadly weapon (a ligature) -- March 20, 1981

Because of the calculated viciousness of the attack on Kim Breed

Compton was sentenced her to life with the possibility of parole

(She was released on parole [2003] after being incarcerated for twenty-two years)

AN ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT REAGAN TAKES PLACE

President Ronald Reagan was leaving Washington, D.C.'s Hilton Hotel after speaking there

John Hinckley, Jr. stood in the crowd as the president walked closely past him -- March 30, 1981

Hinckley fired a .22 caliber blue steel revolver six times in 1.7 seconds first bullet hit White House Press Secretary James Brady in the head

as he turned to protect President Reagan Hinckley now had a clear shot at the president, but the third bullet missed the president and hit the window of a building across the street as Special Agent-In-Charge Jerry Parr quickly pushed Reagan into the limousine, the fourth hit Secret Service agent Timothy McCarthy in the abdomen when he spread his body over the President to make himself a target had Parr hesitated for a moment, the president would likely have been hit in the head fifth hit the bullet-resistant glass of the window on the open side door of the limousine sixth and final bullet ricocheted off the armored side of the limousine and hit the president in his left underarm, grazing a rib and lodging in his lung it stopped within an inch of his heart Ultimately, nobody was killed in the attack, although Press Secretary James Brady was left paralyzed President Ronald Reagan suffered a punctured lung and heavy internal bleeding, but prompt medical attention allowed him to recover quickly no formal invocation of the Twenty-fifth Amendment's presidential succession took place but Secretary of State Alexander Haig controversially stated he was "in control here" while Vice President George H.W. Bush was returning to Washington, D.C.
(John Hinckley, Jr. was found not guilty by reason of insanity he remains confined to a psychiatric facility)

SPACE SHUTTLE COLUMBIA IS LAUNCHED

(Construction had begun on the space shuttle [1975] at Rockwell International Aviation [now Boeing North America] in Palmdale, California) Columbia (STS-1) was named after the American sloop Columbia Rediviva which explored the Pacific Northwest under the command of Captain Robert Gray and became the first American vessel to circumnavigate the globe [178] to [1793] it was also named after the Command Module of Apollo 11 which landed the first astronauts on the moon [July 20, 1969] Shuttle orbiter Columbia arrived at Kennedy Space Center [March 25, 1979] where preparations for launch were begun During preparations for a ground test, two or three workers (reports vary) were asphyxiated while working in Columbia's nitrogen-purged aft engine compartment [March 19, 1981] Columbia was successfully launched -- April 12, 1981 on the 20th anniversary of the first human spaceflight, The Soviet Unions' Vostok 1 Columbia was commanded by Gemini and Apollo veteran John Young who had been the ninth person to walk on the Moon [1972]

SPACE SHUTTLE COLUMBIA RETURNS TO EARTH

After orbiting the Earth thirty-six times Space Shuttle Columbia landed on the dry lakebed runway at Edwards Air Force Base, California -- April 14, 1981 it was the first time a manned reusable spacecraft had returned from orbit

STARBUCKS, COFFEE, TEA AND SPICE EXPANDS IN SEATTLE

A decade after Starbucks, Coffee, Tea and Spice had opened in Seattle's Pike Place Market the company's fourth store was in operation in Seattle founders Jerry Baldwin, Zev Siegel, and Gordon Bowker had enjoyed great success

HOWARD SCHULTZ ATTEMPTS TO JOIN STARBUCKS

Howard Schultz had earned a Bachelor's of Science Degree from Northern Michigan University he spent three years in sales and marketing with Xerox Corporation before he became Vice Present and General Manager of Hammarplast, U.S.S., a Swedish maker of stylish kitchen equipment and house wares

Schultz noticed a small business in Washington State, Starbucks, was ordering a large number of a special type of coffee maker driven by curiosity, Schultz traveled from New York City to Seattle to learn more during this visit Schultz immediately realized his attraction to the coffee bean culture

Howard Schultz eagerly wanted to be a part of coffee roasting world

Schultz met with company founders Jerry Baldwin, Zev Siegel and Gordon Bowker and tried to break into the Starbucks family he had a plan to take Starbucks across the country but the company founders did not share Schultz's bigger picture business approach

WASHINGTON PUBLIC POWER SUPPLY SYSTEM (WPPSS) RAISES CONSTRUCTION MONEY

In an effort to complete power Plant 4 (Hanford) and power plant 5 (Satsop)

WPPSS sold bonds to be repaid with profits derived from the sale of electric energy Costs soared up from $4.1 billion to $12 billion

WPPSS eventually could not sell any more bonds to raise the needed funds as cost estimates skyrocketed upward to $23.8 billion -- May 1981

Contract between WPPSS and its member Public Utilities stated the utilities must pay off the bonds if the nuclear power plants were not finished

WASHINGTON STATE NATIVE AMERICANS FIGHT TO PERSERVE THEIR TREATY RIGHTS

Indians were constantly being forced into federal court to protect their right to salmon fishing

Seattle First National Bank had provided strong support to groups in opposition to native rights it was decided that Indians would boycott the bank Colville Indians pulled $14 million out of the bank students at the University of Washington took up the cause and supported the boycott this action was followed by students from multiple colleges across the state Washington Indians contacted the National Congress of American Indians (NCAI)<sup>38</sup> a meeting of the NCAI was held in Spokane -- May 1981 during discussion of the federal law suit filed by Northwest Water Resources Committee [1980] it was decided to fly the NCAI chairman to Anchorage, Alaska to generate support from the Native American Cook Inlet Corporation in Anchorage, Alaska Native American Cook Inlet Corporation removed $80 million from Sea-First Bank Sea-First bankers changed direction on the issue of fishing rights as the bank came out in support of Native Americans bankers agreed to testify against bills in Congress proposed to end the treaties introduced by Washington's U.S. Senator Republican Slade Gorton and Democrat Congressman Don Bonker [1980]

INTERNATIONAL POLITICS LEADS TO MURDER IN SEATTLE

Seattle had long been a haven for both unionism and immigrants from troubled countries that was true for citizens of The Philippines ruled by President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife Imelda Local Filipino Americans, Silme Domingo and Gene Viernes lived in Seattle and worked as organizers for Local 37 of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) which was focused on improving conditions for Filipinos working in Alaskan fish canneries Domingo and Viernes were both shot to death inside the Local 37 offices in Seattle's Pioneer Square Viernes died immediately -- June 1, 1981 but Domingo was taken to Harborview Medical Center where he spent twenty-four hours before he died after giving clues to medics about the identities of the gunmen It was immediately assumed the murders were simply due to a local dispute within ILWU Local 37 early suspects, Pompeyo Benito Guloy and Jimmy Bulosan Ramil knew both Domingo and Viernes and had been previously dispatched by Local 37 to work in Alaska However, further investigation by police and members of Local 37 proved the motive was more sinister Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife Imelda had ordered the murders

in retaliation for Domingo's and Viernes' anti-Marcos activities in Seattle [1970s]

FILIPINO MURDERS IN SEATTLE GO TO TRIAL

Deaths of International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) Local 37 members

Filipino-Americans, Silme Domingo and Gene Viernes went to trial

King County Superior Court jury -- September 24, 1981 found Pompeyo Benito Guloy and Jimmy Bulosan Ramil guilty of the aggravated first-degree murders order by Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos

Guloy and Ramil were sentenced to life in prison

Third suspect, Fortunato "Tony" Dictado, former president of ILWU Local 37 and a supporter of the Marcos regime, also was convicted of ordering the murders [May 12, 1982] he too was sentenced to life in prison)<sup>39</sup>

AN UNKNOWN DISEASE GENERATES FEAR IN AMERICA

(Dr. Arno Motulsky, a medical geneticist at the University of Washington was in the Congo, Africa looking for genetic factors that made some people resistant to malaria<sup>40</sup> he collected blood from a Bantu man [1959] and kept the sample for decades at the University of Washington and later at the Puget Sound Blood Bank

Dr. Motulsky's samples were tested using newly available genetic amplification techniques [1997] this became the first documented human blood sample which contained the immunodeficiency virus known as HIV)

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported that in Los Angeles, California -- June 5, 1981 five homosexual men had acquired a rare form of pneumonia seen only in patients with weakened immune systems -- the first recognized cases of AIDS

It was soon discovered that if the immune system was significantly damaged by the activity of HIV

AIDS (Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome) was the result America was the first country to bring AIDS into the public consciousness<sup>41</sup> homophobic reaction to the illness undoubtedly contributed to the establishment of AIDS as one of the most politicized, feared and controversial diseases in the history of modern medicine -- (a reputation that stands today) (AIDS spread around the world in a deadly pandemic that has infected sixty million people and killed fifteen million [as of mid-2000])

MT. RAINIER IS THE SCENE TO AMERICA'S WORST CLIMBING ACCIDENT

Ingraham Glacier is a large glacier on the eastern flank of Mount Rainier twenty-nine climbers were attempting to summit the mountain -- June 21, 1981 when an the steep face of the glacier broke off eleven members of the party were swept into the bottom of a deep crevasse This was the worst mountaineering accident in American history killed were Rainier Mountaineering Inc. guide Tom O'Brien and his clients David Boulton, Mark Ernlund, Ronald Farrell, Gordon Heneage, David Kidd, Jonathon Laitone, Ira Liedman, Henry Matthews, Craig Tippie and Michael Watts Rangers abandoned recovery attempts after determining that the use of blowtorches to melt the ice could increase avalanche risks none of the bodies were recovered

SEATTLE SETS THE MUSIC SCENE ONCE AGAIN

(Hip-hop culture had been sparked in the South Bronx ghettos of New York hop culture included rap music, breakdancing, graffiti art, new slang and clothing fashions spread across the nation (beginning in about [1978] <sup>42</sup> no active local record label had any interest in releasing discs by hip-hop performers rappers were stuck issuing their own independent cassette tapes)<sup>43</sup> Northwest's popular music scene generally revolved around rock 'n' roll going back to garage-rock bands from the [1960s] including the Wailers, Sonics, Kingsmen Paul Revere and the Raiders and native son Jimi Hendrix<sup>44</sup> but new Seattle talent quickly began to emerge -- 1981 Roosevelt High School graduate Anthony Ray took in the new hip-hop music but he could not relate to all the violent lyrical imagery contained in national hits coming from New York and Central Los Angeles he applied a love for computers and technology with synthesizer-driven New Wave sounds to forge a unique strain of hip-hop under a new stage name: Sir Mix-A-Lot he employed clever raps that referenced the reality of his life in the Northwest<sup>45</sup>

HENRY M. "SCOOP" JACKSON REMAINS A "NEW DEAL" DEMOCRAT

U.S. Senator Jackson acted to block Reagan administration proposals he found objectionable such as a plan to sell the Bonneville Power Administration system to private interests he blocked Republican efforts to lease wilderness areas for oil and gas exploration he proposed the formation of a bipartisan commission on Central America to end the Contra (Nicaraguan counter-revolutionaries) policy stalemate between Congress and the Reagan administration (final report of the bipartisan commission [1984] undercutting the Reagan policy was dedicated to Senator Jackson)

McCAW COMMUNICATIONS, INC. BECOMES A MAJOR CORPORATION

Throughout the 1980s Craig McCaw sold shares in his company to larger businesses but in each case the McCaw brothers kept control of their company in their own hands financial backing of these established companies enabled McCaw Communications, Inc.
to acquire a credit line of over a billion dollars

NORTHERN TIER'S PUGET SOUND PIPELINE SUFFERS A MAJOR SETBACK

Washington Energy Facility Site Evaluation Council recommended that Governor John Spellman reject the company's application for a Port Angeles superport and underwater pipeline -- 1981 Despite pressure from U.S. President Ronald Reagan's Administration and many national politicians, Governor Spellman rejected the application (As of today, no superport has been built on the Olympic Peninsula and only tankers under 125,000 deadweight tons cross Puget Sound)

WASHINGTON TEACHERS AGAIN REFUSE TO RETURN TO THEIR CLASSROOMS

Washington Education Association (WEA) affiliates went on strike -- 1981 Evergreen School Districts teachers faced a lockout from their classrooms for a week when the lockout was lifted, the teachers went on strike for another five days before a professional agreement could be reached Richland School District teachers (REA) refused to enter their classrooms for one day before a professional agreement was reached with no court injunction being ordered

SEATTLE BUSING PLAN AGAIN COMES UNDER ATTACK

Nearly forty percent of all of the Seattle School District's students were being bused for racial reasons -- 1981 however, waning public support gradually forced the program to be scaled back Failure of the "Seattle Plan" was documented by the district's own data which showed that busing disproportionately burdened children of color, undercut academic achievement, inhibited parental involvement, contributed to so-called "white flight," and did little to reduce racial isolation in the Seattle schools<sup>46</sup>

STATE OF WASHINGTON OPERATES McNEIL ISLAND PENITENTIARY

McNeil Island Corrections Center had an inmate population of 391 -- September 1981 these inmates were immediately put to work fixing and improving the facility they were paid a salary of $50 a month<sup>47</sup> in addition to work inside the institution, the inmates had fifty-four staff houses, several boats and tugs, seventy miles of roads and a K-5 school to repair and maintain Superintendent William Callahan said there was enough work to keep a thousand people busy on the island for ten years

SANDRA DAY O'CONNER BECOMES THE FIRST WOMAN U.S. SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

President Ronald Reagan nominated Sandra Day O'Conner to the U.S. Supreme Court [July 7, 1981] she earned her Bachelor's Degree from Stanford University before entering law school there she graduated from law school magna cum laude ranked third out of 102 students even so, she had difficulty finding work as an attorney as law firms did not hire women she took a job as a deputy county attorney in San Mateo County, California (Sandra Day O'Conner was confirmed unanimously by the U.S Senate -- September 21, 1981 and became first woman justice to ever serve on the U.S. Supreme Court she was on the bench [September 25])

BOEING'S 767 AIRLINER TAKES ITS FIRST FLIGHT

America began to experience an economic recovery airlines once again began buying Boeing aircraft but the market for airliners had changed during the economic downturn fuel prices had risen and environmental concerns had come to the forefront airplanes had to be faster, quieter and more energy efficient Boeing 767 was the first wide-body twinjet 767 served the medium to long-range market and carried about 220 passengers like the 747, it was a wide-body plane with two aisles but had the efficiency of the smaller airplanes -- its design emphasized fuel efficiency 767 featured two turbofan engines, a conventional tail and for reduced aerodynamic drag, a supercritical wing design 767 featured a two-crew technologically advance "glass cockpit" cathode ray tube instrument displays rather than gauges this simplified system, computer, and display screen reduced crew work loads Boeing's 767 took its first flight -- September 26, 1981

PORT OF TACOMA BECOMES A MAJOR SHIPPING POINT<sup>48</sup>

Use of large cargo containers revolutionized the transport industry containers insured greater safety, efficiency and lowered costs “Intermodal” yards connected various modes of transportation: trains, trucks and ships to further speed transport of container goods Tacoma offered a good location for an Intermodal yard as extensive tideflats connected with the deep waters of Commencement Bay Port of Tacoma opened its first Intermodal yard, the North Intermodal Yard -- October 13, 1981 situated on the main port peninsula between Terminal 7 on the Sitcum Waterway and Terminal 4 on the Blair Waterway this was the first dockside intermodal rail yard on the West Coast closer to Alaska and Asia than rival California ports, Tacoma's North Intermodal yard was capable of out-producing the Port of Seattle Tacoma's location was also ideal for moving goods to inland cities and to the East Coast due to its easy access to interstate highways and rail lines North Intermodal Yard quickly established the Port's reputation as one of the country's most modern port facilities

WASHINGTON VOTERS HAVE A SAY ON WPPSS BONDS

Washington Public Power Supply System (WPPSS) was heavily burdened with debt Public Utility Districts (PUD) were faced with a financial crisis beyond their ability to pay Initiative 394 provided a clear statement of public dissatisfaction with Washington Public Power Supply (WPPSS) -- November 1981

I-394 stated: “Shall public agencies obtain voter approval prior to issuing bonds for the construction or acquisition of major public energy projects?”

enough signatures were gathered to make the general election ballot

I-394 limiting WPPSS's ability to take on additional debt passed with a 58.06% YES vote (state Supreme Court later ruled I-394 unconstitutional)

SERIAL KILLER ANGELO ANTHONY BUONO, JR. STANDS TRIAL<sup>49</sup>

Serial killer Kenneth Bianchi's cousin and accomplice in the California "Hillside Strangler" murders Angelo Anthony Buono's trial began with jury selection -- November 16, 1981 this became a drawn-out process that took three months to complete number of victims and mountains of forensic evidence to introduce slowed the proceedings causing the case to drag on Kenneth Bianchi, the 200th witness to testify, spent eighty days on the stand he continued to slow the trial's progress, proving to be a reluctant witness as he made deliberately contradictory statements at one point he claimed he had completely lost his memory another time he denied committing any murders -- including those in Bellingham

WPPSS FACES A FINANCIAL CRISIS

Washington Public Power Supply System (WPPSS) board of directors terminated construction on nuclear Plant 4 (Hanford) and Plant 5 (Satsop) -- January 1982 because these plants generated no power and brought in no money, WPPSS was forced to default on $2.25 billion in bonds<sup>50</sup> this was the largest municipal bond default in the nation's history financial rating of the supply system was downgraded on Wall Street it became more difficult for WPPSS to raise funds

Nuclear Plants 1 (Hanford) and 3 (Satsop) were mothballed in the hope construction would be resumed

(never finished, their costs were underwritten by the Bonneville Power Administration and the power it generated from the Columbia River Dams)

Member utilities, and ultimately the rate payers, were obligated to pay back the borrowed money

Tacoma paid $40.3 million to settle its share of the debacle that was passed along to ratepayers in [April 1983] as a fifteen percent surcharge in some small towns where unemployment due to the recession was already high, the obligation amounted to more than $12,000 per customer

Clark County Public Utility District (PUD) led other agencies out of WPPSS protest candidates were elected to local PUD district boards

Public Utility Districts and bondholders looked to the courts to save them from a crushing bond debt

(this matter wound its way through courts for the next thirteen years)

BOEING DEVELOPS THE 757 NARROW-BODY TWIN-JET AIRLINER

Boeing Commercial Airplanes began construction on the 757 -- its newest mid-size jetliner

this was Boeing's largest narrow-body single-aisle version of its wide-body 767 -- 1981 Boeing's 757 was intended to replace the smaller three-engine 727 on short and medium routes lighter materials and new wings were also expected to improve efficiency its focus on fuel efficiency reflected airline concerns over operating costs As development progressed, the 757 increasingly departed from its 727 origins elements of the 767, which was several months ahead in development, were adopted to reduce risk and cost, Boeing combined design work on both twinjets, which resulted in shared features such as interior fittings and handling characteristics both airplanes were developed in tandem which resulted in shared design features that allowed pilots to obtain a single rating to operate both aircraft 757 featured two-crewmember glass cockpit, twin turbofan engines, a conventional tail and for reduced aerodynamic drag, a supercritical wing design Boeing's prototype 757 rolled out of the Renton factory -- January 13, 1982 and took its maiden flight [February 19, 1982] first flight suffered an engine stall after there were indications of low oil pressure test pilot John Armstrong and co-pilot Lew Wallick checked the systems and were able to restart the affected engine flight proceeded normally thereafter (Production of the 757 ended after 1,050 had been built for fifty-four customers [October 28, 2004] diminished sales and an airline industry trend toward smaller aircraft led Boeing to end production as the older 737 twinjet maintained its popularity with airlines)

MICROSOFT PURCHASES AN OPERATING SYSTEM

As personal computers became increasingly available, compatible software programs were required this, in turn, required a universal operating system Seattle Computer Products had developed a little-used operating system they called the Quick-and-Dirty Operating System or Q-DOS Microsoft purchased Q-DOS for $75,000 and licensed it as its own for use on IBM's new personal computer (PC) Bill Gates modified Q-DOS and released a version of it as Microsoft Disk Operating System MS-DOS 1.0 was released with the IBM PC -- 1982 MS-DOS was one of Microsoft's earliest successes it became the most widely used operating system in the world (and is still used today) (Microsoft became the domineering force in the computer programming industry)

PRESIDENT REAGAN BEGINS A "SECRET WAR" TO TOPPLE NICARAGUA'S GOVERNMENT

Reagan Administration began to secretly funnel millions of dollars, training and arms through the Central Intelligence Agency to support the anti-Sandinista, pro-American Contra's political agenda in Nicaragua --1982 America's involvement with the Contra movement soon became public as did disturbing reports about the behavior of the Contra soldiers it was charged in newspapers and in Congress that the Contras were little more than murderers and drug runners rumors of corruption and payoffs were commonly reported

ALASKA OIL IS REFINED IN WASHINGTON

Upper Midwest of the United States got much of its crude oil from Canada which cut back on oil exports and announced it would no longer sell oil abroad after 1982 from the Middle East, Indonesia, and the newly exploited oil fields of Alaska

U.S. Supreme Court justices in a five to four ruling -- June 30, 1982 as it created an "impermissible racial classification" because it allowed busing for non-racial reasons but banned busing for racial reasons This ruling represented a victory for the Seattle School District which had argued that it would be impossible to integrate the city's schools without the use of the tools prohibited by I-350 this ruling came at the end of the fourth year of the “Seattle Plan” with the earlier unsolved murder of Wendy Coffield

(who was later elected King County Sheriff and, later still, U.S. Congressman) King County's special task force of got off to a shaky start as the huge influx of information swamped the police force within a relatively short period of time they simply did not have the means to process the ever-increasing amount of data and evidence much of it was lost, misplaced or overlooked entirely in fact, the situation got so bad that at one point police enlisted the help of volunteers to assist in the ongoing investigation<sup>52</sup> at least two young women had reported being picked up by a man in a blue and white pickup truck they said he pulled a gun on each of his victims before he attacked them on one occasion he made reference to the recent river murders while a partial license plate number was provided by one the victims, there was no follow-up<sup>53</sup>

DR. BARNEY CLARK RECEIVES THE FIRST ARTIFICIAL HEART

Burien Dentist Dr. Barney Clark, age sixty-one, suffered from congestive heart failure so debilitating that he had trouble walking from his bedroom to the bathroom doctors determined that he was too ill to be eligible for a heart transplant this left the implant of an artificial heart as his only option Food and Drug Administration had recently approved a new artificial heart for human implantation known as the Jarvik 7, it was named after one of its key developers, Dr. Robert Jarvik, who had been building and refining artificial hearts since his college student days Jarvik 7 was state-of-the-art for its time and was the first to be designed for permanent use it employed a heart-shaped pump that was implanted into the patient an external pneumatic compressor, connected to the pump by tubes ran through the chest wall and regulated blood flow two major problems were inherent in the Jarvik 7 artificial heart: •it required a washing-machine-sized air compressor that left the patient virtually immobilized; •threat of infection and associated pulmonary problems were very real Dr. Clark was within two minutes of death when he received the Jarvik 7 heart -- December 2, 1982 he lived for 112 days tethered to an external pneumatic compressor that weighed 400 pounds (Dr. Bernard Clark passed away [10 p.m. March 23, 1983])

Wah Mee club operated illegally in a basement space on Maynard Alley South, just south of South King Street in Seattle's International District club's regulars included many wealthy restaurant owners -- several were among the victims Security at the club was based in part on a system of passing through multiple successive doors, this method had been used in similar Chinatown gambling dens for generations and was usually quite effective

Three armed young Chinese American men entered the historic Wah Mee club -- February 18, 1983 Kwan Fai "Willie" Mak Benjamin Ng, and Wai-Chiu "Tony" Ng (not related) used nylon cord to bind their victims, robbed each and then shot them in the head fourteen people were left for dead in the worst multiple murder in state history these criminals walk away with tens of thousands of dollars in cash security system failed because Willie Mak and his accomplices were known and trusted by the people at the club (However, one of the victims, Wai Yok Chin, survived the attack and helped convict the killers Benjamin Ng was convicted of thirteen counts of aggravated first degree murder he was sentenced to received life without possibility of parole on thirteen counts [August 1983] Willie Mak, the leader of the gang, was sentenced to hang on the same charges [October 1983]

PROTESTORS BLOCK A WHITE TRAIN LOADED WITH NUCLEAR WEAPONS

Journeys of the "White Trains" were tracked and its progress was given to activists along the route

Department of Energy varied the route for security purposes and to avoid confrontations with peace activists

White Trains were later painted in different colors in a futile attempt to fool protestors

Department of Energy [1985] began using semi-trailer rigs to ship warheads by highway as their locations were more difficult to monitor

Approximately 2,000 thermonuclear warheads were based at Bangor only twenty miles across the water from Seattle making Kitsap County a bigger nuclear power than China, England, France, India, Pakistan and Israel combined<sup>55</sup> making Kitsap County third in nuclear weaponry following the United States and Russia

To protest the nuclear arms race, activists initiated the Tracks Campaign, or the White Train Campaign to trace the White Trains' movements as well as the transportation of non-nuclear missile parts across the nation -- 1983

it read in part: “(3) Once the legislature has established what it deems to be 100% funding for basic education, that level may not be reduced (notwithstanding an economic crisis) unless the amount appropriated was in fact in excess of 100% funding... Once a program is defined as “basic education,” it becomes part of a state on-going entitlement program. The state may not reduce the funding level due to state revenue problems.”

Judge Doran specifically noted the legislature must pay for basic education for special needs pupils but he delayed implementation until [July 1, 1984] to save legislators and taxpayers from the $400 million in new costs that would be necessary

Bronze sculpture depicts human forms with hands intertwined it is intended to show peace among all people Tsutakawa described his design process in an interview that year: "I made many, many sketches, and some of them were very definitely reminiscent of the hardship. But I felt that by repeatedly reminding people of the injustice and the hardship, and the loss to the Japanese people, it was not going to improve anything; you'll just remind them of the bad feeling, hard feelings. And instead of doing that I decided it should be a more friendly gesture of all the people gathered and in harmony." (George Tsutakawa interview)<sup>60</sup>

Governor Spellman at the dedication said: "I've received letters asking if I had forgotten Pearl Harbor, if I had forgotten the mothers of those who gave their lives in defense of this country. I haven't forgotten. But all those letters reflect a common confusion: confusing war between Japan and the United States with the mass deprivation of constitutional rights solely because of their race. Their freedom was trampled on for no good reason."<sup>61</sup> and the dream of a whites-only homeland centered in the pristine hills of North Idaho) Robert Mathews invited eight men he felt held beliefs similar to his own to his property in Metaline Falls -- late September 1983 this group became known as "The Order," and sometimes as "The Silent Brotherhood"

UNITED STATES LAUNCHES AN ATTACK AGAINST GRENADA

Grenada is a Caribbean island nation located 100 miles north of Venezuela its 91,000 people saw its four-year-old government fall in a military coup internal power struggle resulted in the murder of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop Grenada's constitution was suspended

United States feared that Grenada would become another Cuba

U.S. Marines & Rangers were sent along with a small force from six Caribbean nations to invade the island of Grenada in response to a request by the Organization Of Eastern Caribbean States -- October 25, 1983 after a few days the attacking forces took control of the island hundreds of U.S. citizens, including a large number of students, were evacuated Grenada's military Marxist regime was deposed in the fighting sixteen Americans were killed and seventy-seven were injured

Invasion of Grenada was controversial due to charges of American imperialism, Cold War politics, the involvement of Cuba, the unstable state of the Grenadian government and Grenada's status as a Commonwealth nation media coverage outside of the United States was negative (Following the U.S. victory, U.S. forces including military police, Special Forces and a specialized intelligence detachment remained in Grenada after combat operations finished they performed security missions and assisted members of the Caribbean Peacekeeping Force and the Royal Grenadian Police Force

Grenada's Governor-General Paul Scoon formed a new government [December 1983]

U.S. Congress, using War Powers Resolution, required the troops leave Grenada [by December 24] democratic elections were held in Grenada [December 1984])

INVASION OF GRENADA DID NOT GO WELL

Invasion of Grenada showed problems with the U.S. government's "information apparatus,"

Time Magazine described "some disarray" three weeks after the invasion

U.S. State Department falsely claimed that a mass grave had been discovered that held 100 bodies of islanders who had been killed by Communist forces

Major General Norman Schwarzkopf, deputy commander of the invasion force, said that 160 Grenadian soldiers and seventy-one Cubans were killed during the invasion

Pentagon officials gave a much lower count of fifty-nine Cuban and Grenadian deaths later reports showed an even lower count

Also of concern were problems within the military communications among Navy, Marines, Air Force and Navy Air Force were not compatible six Caribbean nations serving as allies only added to the confusion lack of intelligence about Grenada made things difficult for the quickly assembled invasion force maps provided to soldiers on the ground were tourist maps with military grids added by hand they also did not show topography location of units and requests for artillery and aircraft fire support were inaccurate because the hand-drawn grids were imprecise

U.S. Navy ships providing naval gunfire and U.S. Marine, U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter/bomber support aircraft that provided close air support mistakenly fired on and killed U.S. ground forces due to differences in maps misdirected by wrong map coordinates, data and methods of calling for fire support that Pammy was living in different places around the country all of these tips were investigated to no avail (Pammy's remains were discovered when the Green River Killer led police to her remains located near Highway 410 [August 16, 2003])

THE ORDER TURNS TO CRIME TO FINANCE THEIR REVOLUTIONARY EFFORTS<sup>65</sup>

Robert Mathews and other members of The Order robbed a Spokane video store -- October 28, 1983 when they got only $369 Mathews decided small robberies were not worth the time and effort

In William L. Pierce's The Turner Diaries, The Order turned to counterfeiting, armed robberies and other violent crimes to disrupt the American economy

Mathews and his neo-Nazis white supremacist gang decided to do the same gang member Bruce Pierce was arrested in Yakima for passing counterfeit $50's at the Valley Mall in Union Gap and for carrying a concealed weapon

Mathews worried that the longer Pierce sat in jail the greater the likelihood

he might talk to the police or another prisoner

Pierce was also making telephone calls from jail that could link him to The Order Mathews decided to rob a bank to raise the money for Pierce's bail Acting alone, Mathews held up the Innis-Arden branch of Citybank north of Seattle near the King-Snohomish County line he escaped with $25,952 but a large portion of the cash was ruined by an exploding dye pack that turned the bills red (Bianchi would serve twenty to thirty-five years before being returned to Washington to serve his two consecutive life sentences)

Bianchi's accomplice Angelo Buono was convicted of nine murders in California -- October 31, 1983

Captain Adamson initiated drastic changes<sup>68</sup>

When word reached The Order that the FBI had been asking questions, most of the gang split into groups:

- Mathews and his cadre preferred cheap motels and safe houses;
- others preferred a mobile lifestyle -- moving from town to town in campers and travel trailers;
- Gary Yarborough moved his belongings from Sandpoint to a remote mountain cabin near Samuels, Idaho as an FBI airplane watched an office was rented in Tulsa, Oklahoma with an answering machine to take and receive messages so members of The Order could remain in contact with one another television networks declared Reagan the winner three hours before polls closed in twenty-six states chairmen of both the Republican and Democratic parties criticized the networks as they believed the news reports kept many voters home impeding voter turn-out and negatively impacted many local races (Reagan's electoral victory was the largest in U.S. history 525 electoral votes to thirteen for Democratic candidates Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro -- the first woman vice president candidate) Incumbent Republican Governor John Spellman lost his reelection bid to Pierce County Executive Democrat Booth Gardner (who served two terms [1985-1993]) Seattle Times conducted a survey that indicated that voters favored Gardner as an expression of dissatisfaction with Spellman's four years as governor<sup>80</sup> Washington's five incumbent Democratic Congressmen were all reelected as were two Republican Congressmen supplied by the Bonneville Power Administration at a cost of 2.3 cents per kilowatt hour -- December 13, 1984

Seattle City Light customers paid an average of 3.89 cents per kilowatt hour<sup>83</sup> regulated by federal and state statutes, tribal treaties, international treaties, county laws, city ordinances and local land use plans and regulations<sup>84</sup> not to mention eight dams on the Columbia River which must be conquered both directions Alaskan and Canadian fish mingled with runs originating in Washington most salmon and steelhead born in Washington were caught in Alaska and Canada United States and Canada committed to agree to prevent over-fishing, provide for optimum production, and ensure that both countries received benefits equal to the production of salmon originating in their waters -- January 28, 1985 (this was to go into force [March 18, 1985]) (This treaty was revised [1999] to renew both country's long-term fishing agreements

WASHINGTON STATE CELEBRATES ITS FIRST WOMAN ASTRONAUT

(Bonnie Dunbar was born in Sunnyside and raised on a ranch in the Yakima Valley<sup>91</sup> she graduated from Sunnyside High School [1967] she received Bachelor of Science from the from the University of Washington [1971] and Master of Science degrees in ceramic engineering from the UW [1975] she earned her doctorate in Mechanical/Biomedical Engineering from the University of Houston [1983]) Astronaut Bonnie Dunbar completed her first mission in space traveling aboard the shuttle Challenger for a week -- November 6-13,1985 Dr. Bonnie Dunbar returned to her hometown to a hero's welcome Sunnyside threw her a parade and gave her the keys to the city nearby Outlook Elementary School, where she attended classes, filled display cases with space shuttle memorabilia students there were following an exercise regimen based on what astronauts did (Dr. Bonnie Dunbar will fly into space four more times before retiring from NASA [2005] including the historic docking with the Russian space station Mir [summer of 1995] her last flight [January 1998] also involved a docking with Mir Dunbar was the payload commander on that mission overseeing the transfer of more than 9,000 pounds of equipment, water and other supplies from the space shuttle to the space station altogether, Bonnie Dunbar spent more than fifty days in space, she traveled more than twenty million miles and orbited earth nearly 800 times)

MICROSOFT RELEASED WINDOWS OPERATING SYSTEM

In response to the growing interest in graphical user interface (GUI, commonly pronounced "gooey") that allowed personal computers to display images ("icons") rather than relying on text commands GUI made computer operations a great deal simpler -- November 20, 1985 GUIs could be used in computers, hand-held devices such as MP3 players, portable media players, gaming devices, household appliances and office equipment Microsoft Windows dominated the world personal computer market

NEIGHBORHOOD ACTIVISTS OCCUPY SEATTLE'S ABANDONED COLMAN SCHOOL<sup>92</sup>

Colman School, located in Rainier Valley, was built [in 1909] for many years it was a symbol for the city's African-American community it was the first school in Seattle attended by black students many black teachers had dedicated themselves to students there

Colman School was scheduled for demolition due to the expansion of Interstate 90 [June 1985] many local residents felt the building should be converted into a black history museum discussions with the Seattle School District and city government went nowhere

About forty activists entered Colman School -- November 24, 1985 through a window that had been broken earlier by vandals abandoned building had lights but no heat and no running water school district administrators warned the group that their occupation was illegal but city officials refused to arrest or evict the activists for fear of bad publicity (Four of the activists, Charlie James, Earl Debnam, Michael Greenwood and Omari Tahri continued to occupy the school building for eight years this became the longest act of civil disobedience in U.S. history occupation finally ended [1993] when the Seattle city government agreed to fund the museum)

However, the dream of an African American Museum was soon deferred when the activists found themselves at odds with a group of local black civic leaders who wanted to use their clout in City Hall to carry the project forward

(It would be another ten years of lawsuits and bad blood before Seattle's Urban League was able to buy the building from the Seattle School District for $800,000 final result of the Colman School occupation, the Northwest African American Museum opened [March 8, 2008]

this facility also featured thirty-six apartments dedicated as affordable housing that)

TRIAL OF THE MEMBERS OF THE ORDER COMES TO AN END<sup>93</sup>

after deliberating for almost two weeks, the jury finally reached its verdict all ten defendants were found guilty of racketeering and conspiracy six defendants were also convicted of additional federal crimes all were sentenced to terms ranging from forty to 100 years in federal prison

MISINFORMATION CAN BE DEADLY

The "Duck Club" was an anti-Communist and anti-Socialist organization founded by Homer Brand whose membership was composed of radical right-wing members of the John Birch Society and Posse Comitatus who were opposed to the federal government

Duck Club discussions centered a mix of tax resistance with terrorism that centered on:

- Jewish banking conspiracies;
- how paper money was not worth anything because this is not longer backed by gold;
- how left wing liberal lawyers were interfering with the "social order" of the nation sometimes the Duck Club members discussed the John and Sally Goldmark family focusing on the [1962] rightwing attack launched by Ashley Holden and Albert Canwell that unseated State Representative John Goldmark

Homer Brand told the members of the Duck Club that Goldmark was the "regional director" of the Communist Party he mistakenly informed his followers the Goldmarks lived in Seattle

David Lewis Rice was a follower of the right-wing Christian Identity movement he attended meetings of the Duck Club and read old news clips about John and Sally Goldmark

MURDER BY MISTAKE ROCKS SEATTLE

Charles Goldmark was a Seattle civil rights attorney

David L. Rice believed Charles Goldmark was a "top Communist"

Rice regarded himself a soldier in the war against Communism for six months he contemplated killing Goldmark he thought the attack would bring him recognition for striking a blow against Communists

Rice finally decided to act because he needed cash and could rob the Seattle lawyer as well

David Rice went to the Goldmark's Seattle Madrona neighborhood home -- Christmas Eve, 1985 ten-year-old Colin, the son of Charles and Annie Goldmark, opened the door for the twenty-seven-year-old drifter who held a small black toy pistol and a white box after being ordered to get his parents, Colin sought out his father

Rice was confused when Charles Goldmark arrived at the door he had expected a much older man; not the thirty-five-year-old person standing in front of him this could not be the Okanogan Valley Communist he had heard and read about

Charles and Colin moved into the house as twelve-year-old Derek ran from the room

Rice ordered the father to call for his older son -- then all four proceeded upstairs

Rice heard the shower running

Anne had finished preparing Christmas dinner and was waiting for their expected guests

Charles was instructed to call for his wife and they all gathered in the bedroom

Rice had intended to interrogate the Goldmarks about their Communist activities but learning of expected guests for Christmas dinner meant there was not time for that he handcuffed the family and one by one Rice chloroformed them using the material in the white box next he attacked them with the sharp end of a steam iron -- bashing their heads against the floor still not yet dead, he stabbed them in the head with small filleting knife Annie and Colin were killed outright Charles died at the hospital and Derek lingered for thirty-seven days before succumbing David Rice walked down stairs and out of the door Goldmark's first guests arrived a few minutes later Rice was quickly apprehended after he used Goldmark's credit card and left written confessions in public places (During the trial of David Rice, Homer Brand, president of the Duck Club, testified he and his club members were "rabid constitutionalists" who never advocated violence against anyone Brand acknowledged he might have discussed a family named Goldmark with Rice, probably in the context of what he believed to be their Communist beliefs but he could not say for sure if he did talk about the Goldmarks, he said he meant the late John Goldmark and his wife Sally -- Charles Goldmark's parents David Lewis Rice was convicted of aggravated murder and was sentenced to death, but the conviction was overturned because his defense attorney was found to be ineffective he had allowed the police unlimited access to his client and did not introduce evidence of Rice's psychotic state Rice agreed to plead guilty in exchange for avoiding the death penalty [May 1998] he was sentenced to life in prison without possibility of parole)

TWO UNIDENTIFIED VICTIMS OF THE GREEN RIVER KILLER ARE DISCOVERED

Jane Doe "B-16" was discovered when a car went down an embankment near Auburn's Mountain View Cemetery when cemetery employees went to investigate the abandoned automobile they came across human bones -- December 31, 1985 Jane Doe "B-16" was an African American 5'1" to 5'4" tall between the ages of twenty and twenty-five Jane Doe "B-17" was discovered at the same location -- January 1, 1986

EXECUTION DATE IS SET FOR TED BUNDY

Ted Bundy, the nation's most well-known serial killer, was scheduled for execution in Florida for the Florida State University Chi Omega convictions [March 4, 1986]

FIRST PERSONAL COMPUTER VIRUS STRIKES

Two Pakistani brothers, Basit Farooq Alvi and Amjad Farooq Alvi launched Brain -- January 19, 1986 they had written this computer program to protect their copywritten medical software from piracy it was not supposed to be malicious -- it was supposed to target copyright infringers only however, it spread far beyond its targeted victims this was considered to be the first computer virus for MS-DOS

U.S. SPACE SHUTTLE CHALLENGER SUFFERES DISASTER

NASA's second Space Shuttle orbiter Challenger had replaced the original shuttle Columbia Astronaut Francis Richard "Dick" Scobee had been born in Cle Elum and was raised in Auburn he graduated from Auburn Senior High School [1957] and enlisted in the U.S. Air Force where he trained as a reciprocating engine mechanic he attended night school for two years to earn college credit before he received in Bachelor of Science Degree in Aerospace Engineering this was followed by a combat tour in Vietnam he became a test pilot and logged more than 6,500 hours flying time in forty-five types of aircraft Dick Scobee became an astronaut [January 1978] he first flew into space as pilot on NASA's eleventh space shuttle mission [April 6-13, 1984] Scobee was selected as Commander of the Challenger's fifth flight -- STS-51-L aboard as part of the crew was teacher and mother of two Christa McAuliffe who had been selected [1985] as the first American civilian to go into space educators and students across the nation were filled with excitement as she was scheduled to conduct experiments and teach two lessons from space As students in classrooms across the nation watched the preparations launch of the Challenger was delayed two hours -- January 28, 1986 finally, there was liftoff as Challenger roared into space seventy-three seconds into the launch the Space Shuttle disintegrated killing the crew of seven (U.S. Navy divers found the Space Shuttle largely intact [March 9, 1986] but the crew compartment had been heavily damaged bodies of all seven astronauts were still inside) (It was later determined that an O-ring sealing a joint had failed due to a number of factors followed by an explosion of hydrogen and oxygen that tore apart the Challenger this accident led to a two-and-a-half year grounding of the shuttle fleet)

GREEN RIVER TASK FORCE'S LACK OF SUCCESS FRUSTRATES THE PUBLIC

Residents of the Puget Sound area, especially in King and Pierce counties, were acutely aware of the lack of results coming from the Green River Task Force -- February 1986

While several suspects were taken into custody, each proved to have no connection with the murders public anger and fear reached a boiling point members of the media referred to the Green River Task Force as a joke he was sentenced to sixty years in federal prison

NUCLEAR REACTOR DISASTER OCCURS AT CHERNOBYL, USSR

Chernobyl Nuclear Power Plant in the USSR state of Ukraine exploded -- April 26, 1986 explosion and fire released large quantities of radioactive contamination into the atmosphere which spread over much of Western USSR and Europe (battle to contain the contamination and avert a greater catastrophe ultimately involved over 500,000 workers and cost an estimated 18 billion rubles which crippled the Soviet economy)

In the aftermath of the accident, 237 people suffered from acute radiation sickness

(thirty-one died within three months) most of the victims were fire and rescue workers trying to bring the accident under control they were not fully aware of how dangerous the exposure to radiation in the smoke was

After the disaster, two square miles of pine forest directly downwind of the reactor turned reddish-brown and died -- earning the name of the "Red Forest" some animals in the worst-hit areas also died or stopped reproducing most domestic animals were removed from the exclusion zone, but horses left on an island in the Pripyat River four miles from the power plant died when their thyroid glands were destroyed due to radiation poisoning some cattle on the same island died and those that survived were stunted due to thyroid damage

(however, the next generation appeared to be normal)

(Later investigations showed that while human factors contributed to conditions that led to the disaster the chief reasons for the accident lay in reactor construction flaws and the design of the control rods inserted into the reactor to slow down the reaction that were four feet shorter than necessary)

McCAW COMMUNICATIONS, INC. ENTERS THE FIELD OF CELLULAR TELEPHONES

When American Telephone and Telegraph (AT&T), the nation's huge telephone monopoly, was broken up by a federal court -- 1986 a new business opportunity was created when the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) held lotteries to sell local permits to develop new telephone companies

Craig McCaw believed that customers would be attracted to any service that allowed them to roam freely at a reasonable cost with a minimum of trouble

Gradually Craig McCaw entered into the new and untested field of cellular telephone service he started bidding on cellular telephone licenses and focused on building a nationwide network of cellular phones to build up a war chest for the increasingly expensive battles for cellular territories, McCaw brothers sold the family's cable television business to Cooke Cablevision

(now part of Comcast) -- 1986

Craig McCaw developed a reputation for being willing to borrow gigantic sums to bid aggressively for new properties over the next eight years, the company invested $77 million

McCaw's reputation for making risks pay off was established when he purchased MCI Communications' cellular and paging operations for $122 million

AT&T, which expected to dominate the infant cell phone industry, was shocked to find an unknown cable television operator from the Northwest

SearchableHistory.com

had already acquired the licenses AT&T wanted in strategically chosen markets McCaw could now concentrate on building a national cellular phone network McCaw Cellular Communications emerged as the cellular telephone industry leader

REAGAN ADMINISTRATION ATTEMPTS TO DEAL WITH THE HEZBOLLAH HOSTAGE CRISIS

Reagan Administration officials developed a scheme to gain support from moderate groups in Iran who were opposed to both the Ayatollah Khomeini and the kidnapers of Americans Israel would ship weapons to Iranian moderates to gain their support so they would act as intermarries in the release of Hezbollah's American hostages still held in Iran U.S. would replace the weapons sold by Israel and provide them additional monetary benefits Israeli government required that the plan be approved by top federal officials arms-for-hostages proposal divided some members of the administration from President Ronald Reagan who was in favor with U.S. government approval of the sale gained, Israel agreed to sell weapons to Iran (By the time the arms sales were discovered, more than 1,500 missiles had been shipped to Iran three hostages had been released -- only to be replaced with three new hostages)

USS MISSOURI (BB-63) IS PUT BACK INTO SERVICE

USS Missouri was re-commissioned into service -- May 10, 1986 she began her new life with an around-the-world cruise this was the first such cruise for a battleship since President Theodore Roosevelt sent the "Great White Fleet" [December 16, 1907-February 22, 1909] as a demonstration of growing American military power

GRUNGE MUSIC EXPLODES ON THE SCENE IN SEATTLE

Grunge, a form of alternative rock music, began in Washington State it was inspired by hardcore punk, heavy metal and indie rock it featured heavily distorted electric guitars with feedback effects lyrics focused on teenage apathy and angst many grunge musicians were noted for their unkempt appearances and their rejection of the business of music Early grunge movement centered on Seattle's independent record label SubPop --1986 Kurt Cobain formed Nirvana with Krist Novoselic in Aberdeen [1987] Cobain and Novoselic met while attending Aberdeen High School Nirvana released its first single, "Love Buzz" [1988] on the SubPop record label a month later the band began recording its debut album, "Bleach"

STELLA NICKELL CHANGES THE PACKAGING OF AMERICAN GOODS<sup>95</sup>

Heavy-equipment operator Bruce Nickell, 52, collapsed in his Auburn home -- June 5, 1986

Stella Nickell called the emergency volunteer fire department on the Kent-Black Diamond Road but her husband died at Harborview Hospital in Seattle an autopsy declared the cause of death to be emphysema

Six days later bank manager Sue Snow, 40, collapsed in her bathroom at home paramedics took her to Harborview Hospital by helicopter where she died -- June 11 pathologists smelled the telltale scent of bitter almonds during the autopsy they determined that cyanide poisoning had killed Sue Snow

Food and Drug Administration soon announced that Extra Strength Excedrin capsules found at Snow's home medicine cabinet contained cyanide worried Auburn residents threw away bottles of pain-killers they feared might be laced with poison

Extra Strength Excedrin manufacturer Bristol-Myers initiated a nationwide recall of the capsules and immediately stopped making the product grocers and pharmacists searched for more tainted medicine one bottle was found in a Kent supermarket and another in an Auburn pharmacy lot number of the bottle recovered from Sue Snow's house was publicized

Stella Nickell called police to say she had two bottles of Excedrin in her home with the same lot number as the bottle that killed Sue Snow (Federal Anti-Tampering Act [1983] had been passed by Congress in response to product-tampering in Chicago which killed seven people tampering with food or food containers was against federal law)

FBI took jurisdiction of the case they discovered that Bruce Nickell had a $100,000 accidental death insurance policy that listed Stella Nickell as the beneficiary needing to prove her husband's death was accidental

Stella Nickell poisoned bottles of Excedrin and randomly placed them on store shelves soon two more insurance policies on Bruce's life were discovered

Stella's payoff totaled $175,000

FBI document examiners determined that Bruce's signature on the applications was forged

Stella Nickell was indicted in federal court and was found guilty -- but not of murder [May 9, 1988] rather she was convicted of product tampering and was sentenced to ninety years in prison in the unlikely event she is paroled she could still face state murder charges which have not been filed to date)

In response to product tampering, the Food and Drug Administration required products be packaged with tamper-resistant technology such as blister-packs, bottle mouth seal covers, shrink wrap bottle covers, visible seals that must be broken to open the bottle and taped box ends

WASHINGTON STATE LEGISLATIVE BUILDING'S DOME IS RENOVATED<sup>96</sup>

Interior rotunda of the great dome was renovated to match the exterior of the building plaster columns were colored to match the Alaska marble used elsewhere in the rotunda metal that looked like gold was applied to the tops of the columns one hundred forty-eight rosettes that decorated the dome were colored to give them definition five-ton Tiffany chandelier that hangs from the ceiling received a good cleaning -- 1986

TED BUNDY'S EXECUTION IS DELAYED ONCE AGAIN

Federal Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals stayed Bundy's execution and sent the Chi Omega conviction back to court for review of specific technicalities such as Bundy's mental competency to stand trial -- July 2, 1986 New execution date [November 18, 1986] was set this time for the murder of twelve-year-old Kimberly Ann Leach

U.S. FOREST SERVICE PROTECTS THE NORTHERN SPOTTED OWL<sup>97</sup>

Northern spotted owl was regarded as an indicator species whose numbers reflected the health of other species and the forest ecosystem Spotted owls need old-growth forests for their habitats (that is, 200-year-old forests that had never been logged or burned) scientists estimated that one pair of owls needed hundreds of acres of forest habitat to survive Northern Spotted Owls faced extinction as its habitat was radically reduced by logging in the mature portions of the National Forests necessary for the bird's survival Forest Service developed an environmental impact statement and a forest management plan [1984] that required forest managers to consider owl habitat in the sales of old growth timber this placed in jeopardy the supply of logs for logging companies and lumber mills reduced number of logs had an economic impact in the entire forest products industry and in dozens of communities in the Northwest U.S. Forest Service announced that timber sales would be limited -- August 7, 1986 both the forest products industry and environmentalists responded with outrage industry complained the measure went too far and would cost thousands of jobs, environmentalists claimed that not enough was being done to protect the species

TWO WASHINGTON SCHOOL DISTRICTS FACE TEACHER STRIKES

Steilacoom Education Association teachers struck for fifteen days to achieve a professional agreement acceptable to them -- 1986 teachers and administrators reached an agreement without interference by the courts

North Kitsap School District saw its (NKEA) teachers struck for five days this strike was settled without court action

GREEN RIVER TASK FORCE REMAINS UNSUCCESSFUL

Enough information on possible Green River Killer suspects had been assembled to permit the task force to focus on one man -- a Riverton Heights fur trapper after a search of the man's house generated an enormous amount of news-media attention, task force members released the man and admitted he was not the killer

Popular support and political enthusiasm for the task force greatly waned -- September 1986 by this time at least $10 million, including federal grant money, had been expended on the effort dozen positions were slashed from the task force by Sheriff Vern Thomas Captain James Pompey was assigned to lead the Green River Task Force organizationally the task force returned to existing police structure instead of operating independently as it had under Captain Frank Adamson

GREEN RIVER KILLER REMAINS ACTIVE

Patricia Michelle Barczak, age nineteen, had completed a course in culinary school she loved puppies and kittens before she disappeared along Pacific Highway South near Sea-Tac Airport -- October 17, 1986

(her skull found by a survey crew working along Highway 18 in Auburn [February 1993])

REAGAN ADMINISTRATION'S ARMS-FOR-HOSTAGES DEAL IS EXPOSED

Lebanese newspaper, Ash-Shiraa, printed an exposé on the secret activities -- November 3, 1986

United States had been selling weapons to Iran in secret to secure the release of seven American hostages held by the pro-Iranian Hezbollah in Lebanon at the same time high ranking members of the U.S. government were accused of funneling money raised by the weapons sales to Iran to Nicaraguan Contra rebels both activities were illegal

This story quickly proved to be correct when a CIA airlift of guns for Nicaragua was downed one of the men aboard the aircraft, Eugene Hasenfus, was captured by Nicaraguan authorities

SearchableHistory.com

he initially alleged in the Nicaraguan press that two of his co-workers worked for the CIA (he later changed his story)

REAGAN ADMINISTRATION ATTEMPTS TO CONTROL THE POLITICAL DAMAGE

Two facts soon came to light which shocked the people of the United States:

- while probing the question of the arms-for-hostages deal, Attorney General Edwin Meese discovered that only $12 million of the $30 million Iranians reportedly paid for weapons had reached federal government coffers;
- CIA had (allegedly with the knowledge of President Reagan) secretly arranged for Israel to transfer weapons to Iran in violation of the law that made dealings with a “State Sponsor of Terrorism” illegal;

President Reagan went on television -- November 1986 he vehemently denied that any illegal operation had occurred (he retracted the statement a week later, but insisted the sale of weapons to Iran had not been an “arms-for-hostages” deal)

Then-unknown National Security Council staff member Lieutenant-Colonel Oliver North revealed to federal authorities the $22 million discrepancy in funds he had been diverting funds from the arms sales to Iran to the Contras with the full knowledge of National Security adviser Admiral John Poindexter and with the unspoken blessing, he assumed, of President Reagan

North noted the scheme had been planned by three members of the National Security Council adviser Admiral John Poindexter, advisor Robert McFarlane and staff member Lieutenant-Colonel Oliver North

LITTLE CHANGES AS A RESULT OF THE STATE ELECTIONS

In the only change in Washington State’s Congressional delegation, Republican U.S. Senator Slade Gorton was narrowly defeated by Seattle Democrat and former Congressman Brock Adams -- November 4, 1986

Washington’s legislature remained in Democratic hands while Republicans gained two State Senate seats, they remained in the minority by one seat twenty-five Democrats to twenty-four Republicans in the State House of Representatives Democrats increased their majority by eight seats as they held a comfortable sixty-one to thirty-one vote edge

COLUMBIA RIVER GORGE SCENIC AREAS ARE PROTECTED BY CONGRESS

Columbia River Gorge supported human habitation for over 13,000 years evidence of Folsom and Marmes people, who crossed the Bering Sea land bridge from Asia, were found in archaeological digs excavations near Celilo Falls, a few miles east of The Dalles, showed humans had occupied this salmon-fishing site for more than 10,000 years For thousands of years the Columbia Gorge provided the only navigable route through the Cascades as it linked the Columbia River Plateau and the Pacific Ocean American Indians traveled through the Gorge to trade at Celilo Falls American explorers Lewis and Clark used with route to reach the Pacific Ocean [1805] early settlers established steamboat lines and railroads through the gorge (beginning in [1850]) Union Pacific Railroad ran freights along the Oregon bank of the river Amtrak's Pioneer passenger train also used the Union Pacific tracks [until 1997] rival Burlington Northern Santa Fe Railway ran freight along the Washington side Amtrak's passenger train, Empire Builder, used this route through the gorge Columbia Gorge National Scenic Area is a canyon that stretches for over eighty miles as the Columbia River crashes through the Cascade Mountains canyon walls up to 4,000 feet high extends roughly from the confluence of the Columbia with Oregon's Deschutes River down to Reed Island (outside of today's Troutdale, Oregon) Columbia Gorge National Scenic Area was placed under the authority of the United States Forest Service -- November 1986

AGAIN TED BUNDY'S EXECUTION IS DELAYED

Eleventh Circuit Court issued a stay of execution -- November 17, 1986 (it was not until [mid-1988] that the Eleventh Circuit ruled against Ted Bundy)

VACANT SEAT IN THE STATE SENATE IS FILLED

Eighteenth Legislative District State Senator Alan Thompson, Democrat, resigned to become Chief Clerk of the State House of Representatives -- November 19, 1986 Democrat Joe Tanner was appointed to fill the unexpired term for Cowlitz and Clark counties continuing Democratic control of the State Senate by one vote

IRAN-CONTRA AFFAIR BECOMES PUBLIC

U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese announced that profits from covert weapons sales to Iran were illegally diverted to the anti-Communist Contra rebels in Nicaragua in violation of U.S. law National Security Council staff member Oliver North, mastermind of the Iran-Contra operation, was fired by President Reagan -- November 25, 1986 Oliver North's boss, National Security Advisor John Poindexter, resigned the same day

IRAN-CONTRA SCANDAL IS INVESTIGATED

President Reagan appointed former-U.S. Senator Texas Republican John Tower to head the Tower Commission composed of former Secretary of State Democrat Edmund Muskie and former National Security Advisor Republican Brent Scowcroft -- November 26, 1986 to investigate the arms-for-hostages sale of weapons to Iran and the diversion of the money to Nicaraguan Contras Reagan denied any involvement in the scandal Tower Commission focused on the role of the National Security Council in the Iran-Contra affair

INDIAN-STATE COOPERATION TAKES ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

Following the implementation of the Puget Sound Salmon Management Plan [1985], the Timber Fish Wildlife Agreement further developed cooperation between Washington State Native American tribes and non-Indians -- 1986 this time including environmental groups and logging companies Timber Fish Wildlife Agreement set the ground rules for cooperative decision making it also addressed the shared goal of “economic stability and regulatory certainty” to encourage cooperative efforts for habitat protection and sustainable forest management<sup>98</sup>

PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN TESTIFIES BEFORE THE TOWER COMMISSION

President Reagan’s Chief of Staff, Donald Regan, had previously testified before the committee he stated the U.S. government had not authorized the sale of weapons-for-hostages to Iran However, President Reagan shocked Regan and White House counsel by admitting he had indeed approved both the sale of weapons by Israel to Iran and had agreed to replace the weapons Israel had sold -- December 2, 1986

LARRY WALSH IS APPOINTED INDEPENDENT COUNSEL TO INVESTIGATE IRAN-CONTRA

Republican Lawrence E. Walsh, attorney, former judge and former U.S. Deputy Attorney General, was appointed Independent Counsel to investigate the Iran-Contra affair by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia -- December 19, 1986

Two major difficulties confronted Walsh’s investigation:

- passage of time since the Iran-Contra events had occurred had dimmed memories,
- lack of witness recollections of specific details became apparent

Office of Independent Council carefully searched for previously unproduced documents such as notes most of the significant Iran-Contra witnesses were reluctant to provide truthful information unless they were confronted with difficult-to-refute documentary evidence

KING COUNTY'S NEW-ELECTED EXECUTIVE TIM HILL TAKES OFFICE

Tim Hill was sworn into the county executive's office -- January 1, 1987 constituents wanted improved police services in the unincorporated areas of the county

County Executive Tim Hill openly questioned whether the use of so many police in the unproductive search for the Green River Killer was the best use of scarce resources for a case that might never be solved

Size of the task force was reduced by forty percent when Task Force leader Captain Frank Adamson objected to the cuts to the task force he was promoted and placed in charge of a precinct

Captain Adamson's replacement was Captain James Pompey

Pompey immediately began to reorganize the team and the data related to the investigation

LAST OF THE EIGHT HANFORD ATOMIC REACTORS IS SHUT DOWN

Most of the nuclear reactors had been shut down between [1964] and January 1987 they had functioned for an average of twenty-two years each before they were entombed to allow the radioactive materials to decay surrounding structures had been removed and buried

"B" Reactor has not been cocooned and was accessible to the public for occasional guided tours it was listed on the National Register of Historic Places [1992] some historians advocated converting it into a museum

("B" Reactor was designated a National Historic Landmark by the National Park Service [August 19, 2008])

Hanford's "N" Reactor, the last in operation, was a dual reactor built in [1963] it produced energy for the Washington Public Power Supply System (WPPSS) electrical grid and was a plutonium production reactor for nuclear weapons its advanced technology was far superior to that of the first eight nuclear reactors at Hanford

"N" Reactor's state-of-the-art cooling system required significantly less Columbia River water if there was ever a loss of cooling water,

"N" Reactor was built with an automatic safety system that would shut down the reactor on its own without any operator action required

"N" Reactor was shut down for routine maintenance, refueling and safety upgrades -- January 1987 it was never re-started

LEADERSHIP OF THE GREEN RIVER TASK FORCES CHANGES HANDS AGAIN

Green River Killer had been active from at least [July 1982] with no viable suspect identified

nearly all of the victims were runaways, prostitutes or women living on the streets it was believed that at least seven bodies had not been found but the remains four victims, yet to be identified, were being held -- early 1987 Investigators turned their focus from a suspect's possible guilt to the suspect's probable innocence this strategy allowed investigators to quickly eliminate people under suspicion who had alibis and instead concentrate on more probable suspects suspects that remained under suspicion were prioritized according to their threat<sup>99</sup> category "A" was composed of those who were most closely linked to victims, or fit the profile of the killer and his movements categories "B" or "C" were composed of suspects less closely linked with the crimes before they were eventually eliminated

GREEN RIVER TASK FORCE RE-INTERVIEWS AN OLD SUSPECT

Gary Ridgway had been contacted by police several times in the past he had been accused of choking a prostitute near the Sea-Tac International Airport [1980] police had stopped and questioned him while he was in his truck with a prostitute [1982] she later became one of the women on the Green River Killer's suspected murder list police approached the man again [1983] in connection with the kidnapping of Marie Malvar whose boyfriend had followed a truck to Ridgway's house after he recognized it as the one in which he had last seen his girlfriend Ridgway also had been picked up for attempting to solicit an undercover police officer [May 1984] Green River detective Matt Haney became increasingly suspicious of Gary Ridgway -- early 1987 Haney learned from Ridgway's ex-wife that he often frequented the dumpsites where many of the Green River Killer's victim's bodies had been discovered Unable to eliminate Gary Ridgway as suspect, he moved up to the "A" list he was placed under police surveillance investigators scrutinized his work record and determined that he was never at work on the days that many of the victims had been reported as missing several prostitutes claimed to have seen a man matching the suspect's description regularly cruising the Pacific Highway South strip between [1982-1983] Ridgway said he regularly drove that route on his way to work as a truck painter<sup>100</sup>

STATE LEGISLATURE AGAIN ADDRESSES THE SCHOOL FUNDING ISSUE

Washington's legislators passed Schools for the 21st Century which allowed school districts to add ten additional school days to the school calendar for employees to plan and implement school improvement programs including teacher and staff training -- 1987

School districts could ask tax-payers for an excess levy limited to up to ten percent of their budget to use for local programs beyond basic education supported by the community to increase the maximum levy amount that could be requested by each school district, legislators added federal funding to the amount that could be used to establish the levy amount typically about ten percent of a school district's budget this raised the amount that could be requested from ten percent of the district's budget to about twenty percent to address widespread concerns that varying school taxing rates would lead to a system of rich districts that passed their levies and poor districts that could not legislators also passed a levy equalization bill known as the Local Effort Assistance Program (LEAP) -- 1987

LEAP was to assist districts that required high tax rates to provide adequate funding because the property tax values within the school districts were assessed at a lower rate (creating "property poor" school districts because they lacked high tax rate industries) however, to qualify for the LEAP money these "property poor" districts were required to pass their local Maintenance & Operation Levy thus districts that suffered a "double M&O levy failure" not only lost their levy funds but they also lost the LEAP equalization funds as well

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE GREEN RIVER KILLER IS DISCOVERED

Twenty-one-year-old Roberta Joseph Hayes was last seen alive leaving a Portland, Oregon jail -- February 7, 1987

(Roberta 's remains were found four years later by a Washington Parks employee along Highway 410 east of Enumclaw [September 11, 1991] when the location was accurately identified by the Green River Killer)

CIA ADMITS IRANIAN FUNDS WERE DIVERTED TO NICARAGUAN CONTRAS

Director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) William J. Casey, admitted to Washington Post reporter Bob Woodward that he was aware of the diversion of Iranian arms-for-hostages funds to the Contras this admission occurred while Casey was hospitalized for a stroke -- February 1987 (William Casey died [May 6, 1987])

HUSKY STADIUM COLLAPSES<sup>101</sup>

Husky Stadium was undergoing renovation to add 13,700 seats at a cost of $12.9 million while the stadium was under construction, nine guylines (wire cables) were used to support the structure two of the nine new sections were close to completion when one of the forty men on the project noticed a 28-inch diameter tube that supported the overhanging roof had buckled all of the crew was immediately ordered off the job -- 9:00 a.m. February 25, 1987

Washington Athletic Director Mike Lude had played a major role in selling and funding the project he was conducting a staff meeting in his office when they were distracted by the 140-high bleachers falling to the ground to become a gigantic 250-ton mass of twisted metal preliminary damage estimates ranged from $500,000 to $1,000,000

All the workers had gotten away in time only a cat, the ironworkers' mascot, was missing

(but a few hours later even the cat was found in the rubble alive and apparently unharmed)

Collapse of Husky Stadium was a setback

(nevertheless, the stadium addition was completed in time for the football team's first home game as the Huskies defeated Stanford 31-21 [September 5, 1987])

TOWER COMMISSION DELIVERS ITS REPORT TO THE PRESIDENT

Tower Commission, chaired by former-U.S. Senator Texas Republican John Tower, had interviewed eighty witnesses to the Iran-Contra scheme two hundred page report was issued -- February 26, 1987 it criticized the actions of Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, National Security Advisor (NSA) John Poindexter, NSA advisor Robert McFarlane,

National Security Council member Lieutenant-Colonel Oliver North and others it was determined that President Reagan did not have knowledge of the full extent of the Iran-Contra scheme especially the diversion of Iranian funds for hostages to the Nicaraguan Contras however, it was noted, the President should have had better control of the National Security Council staff

President Reagan also was criticized in the report for not properly supervising his subordinates or being aware of their actions

PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN EXPRESSES REGRET OVER THE IRAN-CONTRA SCANDAL

President Reagan broadcast his regrets over national television -- March 4, 1987 he explained why he had not spoken to the American public for three months regarding the scandal: “The reason I haven't spoken to you before now is this: You deserve the truth. And as frustrating as the waiting has been, I felt it was improper to come to you with sketchy reports, or possibly even erroneous statements, which would then have to be corrected, creating even more doubt and confusion. There's been enough of that.”

he then took full responsibility for the acts committed: “First, let me say I take full responsibility for my own actions and for those of my administration. As angry as I may be about activities undertaken without my knowledge, I am still accountable for those activities. As disappointed as I may be in some who served me, I'm still the one who must answer to the American people for this behavior.”

finally, the president stated that his previous assertions that the U.S. did not trade arms for hostages were incorrect: “A few months ago I told the American people I did not trade arms for hostages. My heart and my best intentions still tell me that's true, but the facts and the evidence tell me it is not. As the Tower board reported, what began as a strategic opening to Iran deteriorated, in its implementation, into trading arms for hostages. This runs counter to my own beliefs, to administration policy, and to the original strategy we had in mind.”<sup>102</sup>

President Reagan's message resonated with viewers and his popularity rebounded across the nation

U.S. AIR FORCE KC-135 STRATOTANKER CRASHES AT FAIRCHILD AFB, SPOKANE<sup>103</sup>

Thunderhawks was a new aerobatics team created by the Strategic Air Command (SAC) in an attempt to match the Air Force Thunderbirds and the Navy Blue Angels aerobatics teams

Fairchild Air Force Base near Spokane was selected as the training area for the new team

B-52 Stratofortress and a KC-135 Stratotanker took off from Fairchild -- Friday March 13, 1987 to practice aerial maneuvers for Fairchild's annual Aerospace Day [Sunday, May 17] this fifteen minute air show was to be the debut of the new Thunderhawks they were to demonstrate the capabilities of SAC's large aircraft through a series of exciting routines that included a low-level refueling simulation, high-bank turns and flybys down the runway

KC-135 had just taken off from runway 23 in tandem with the B-52

KC-135 was executing a steep left-hand turn when it suddenly rolled from an intended 45-degree bank to almost 90 degrees -- two left engines stalled crew managed to level the aircraft, but it was flying too low and slow to recover plane crashed landed in an open area north of the flightline, behind three large hangars, narrowly missing the base's bombing and refueling squadron offices it skidded through a security fence, across an access road, and killed an off-duty sergeant aircraft traveled for another 200 yards, then hit an unmanned weather radar tower and burst into flames

Firefighters from Fairchild's crash teams were quickly on scene they were assisted by a crash truck from Spokane International Airport four miles to the east and an entire engine company from the Spokane Fire Department it took more than three hours to extinguish the flames and hot-spots from the crash

Searchers found the bodies of five crewmen in the forward section of the blackened fuselage body of the sixth crew member was finally found tangled inside the cockpit late Friday night this discovery was not immediate because the recovery teams were careful to safeguard the crew compartment for the Air Force accident investigators (According to an investigation by the Air Force Accident Investigation Board during the demonstration the KC-135 tanker with its refueling boom extended was to execute a pass at approximately 500 feet while the B-52 bomber was to follow flying lower at 200 feet just after takeoff the KC-135 hit the wake of the B-52 and then began its 90-degree decline the aircraft was flying too low and too slow to enable a recovery)

Strategic Air Command's Thunderhawks program was disbanded at the insistence of Congress

GREEN RIVER TASK FORCES SERVES A SEARCH WARRANT

Green River Task Force had developed a long suspect list but no conclusive evidence implicated any of the men

Gary Ridgway had been identified by two witnesses who said he was seen with two of the victims task force members executed a search warrant on his home -- April 8, 1987 it was tightly packed with objects he and his fiancé had collected from dumpster diving, attending swap meets and from dump sites where some of the Green River victims had been found<sup>104</sup>

Ridgway was taken into police custody where he passed a polygraph test he was then asked for a saliva sample which he provided however, DNA technology was only in its infancy

There was insufficient evidence to arrest him and Gary Ridgway was released from police custody

CONGRESS BEGINS ITS PUBLIC HEARINGS ON THE IRAN-CONTRA AFFAIR

Independent Counsel Lawrence E. Walsh conducted an investigation of Iran-Contra for five years

Walsh specifically implicated Vice President George H.W. Bush in the Iran-Contra scandal

Vice President Bush denied all knowledge of the Iran-Contra affair saying he was “out of the loop” -- May 5, 1987

(Vice President Bush steadfastly refused to turn over his diary to investigators this later revealed he was “one of the few people that know fully the details”<sup>105</sup> even so, he repeatedly refused to discuss the incident - he was elected President [November 1988])

ANOTHER SET BACK FOR THE GREEN RIVER TASK FORCE

Captain James Pompey died from a massive heart attack in a scuba diving accident -- May 11, 1987] when he apparently could not get air from his tank and surfaced too quickly

After so much death in the region the public’s nerves had become raw<sup>106</sup> this tragic event was picked up by the media and sensationalized it was suggested the Green River Killer was actually a police officer who murdered Pompey although there was absolutely no substantiating evidence to support the theory one newspaper even called for an official investigation into the death of Captain Pompey (Over the next three years, the number of officers in the task force continued to dwindle even as it focused on a number of potentially viable suspects)

THREE MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY ARE KILLED IN A MID-AIR COLLISION<sup>107</sup>

Two small airplanes carrying six members of the Sager family took off from Pru Field near Ritzville for a holiday near Hayden Lake, Idaho -- May 24, 1987 three of the family flew in a Cessna 172 while three others flew in a Piper Cherokee P-28

Both airplanes flew side-by-side before the Cessna crossed in front of the Piper Cherokee when the planes collided, the Cessna went into a nose-dive and crashed fifteen miles east of Ritzville killing everyone on board

Piper Cherokee managed to return safely to Pru Field (Nearly the entire population of Ritzville turned out for the memorial service for Kenneth Sager, 41, his wife Gloria, 40, and their daughter Karla, 15, held at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Ritzville four days later)

“entombed” their memory

Washington State Vietnam Veterans Memorial Committee was organized to fund a second memorial fundraising work was such a success that the $178,000 project was funded privately

1,466 individuals, groups and corporations donated money -- most in amounts less than $25 memorial committee returned the money that had been donated by the state government

Dedicated to 1,117 dead or missing Washington State Vietnam War veterans, Artist Kris Snider’s memorial was unveiled on the east lawn of the Insurance Building on the west campus -- Memorial Day, May 25, 1987 site selected for the memorial was a grassy knoll under a large shade tree an area was chosen specifically because of the quiet solitude it provided green granite wall stretches partially around a forty-five foot base this wall represents the circle of life -- the top of the wall rises and falls in a rolling course symbolizing the highs and lows of that occur in our existence granite wall runs unimpaired except for a large crack in the shape of North and South Vietnam this cut symbolizes the break in the circle of life caused by the war

Inscribed in the granite is: “Washington State Vietnam Veterans Memorial,” “To all my brothers and sisters who made it back, but never made it home. In memory of those who have died from physical and emotional wounds received while serving in the Vietnam War. We honor and recognize their pain and suffering, but above all we respect the courage of these Washington State residents. When our country called, you were there. We have not forgotten, you are not alone. You Now Rest in Glory.”

Names carved into the wall are positioned in such a way that they can be touched and read by all including children and those in wheelchairs these names are listed chronologically by date of death from [July 1963] to [May 1975] a small cross is engraved next to the names of those who remain missing in action there are small holes next to all the names so that mementos may be left in remembrance all items left are collected and placed in the state archives

PREHISTORIC COLVIS CULTURE ARTIFACTS ARE DISCOVERED IN EAST WENATCHEE<sup>108</sup>

Clovis culture referred to a small town in north central New Mexico near the Texas panhandle where many prehistoric artifact discoveries were made prehistoric peoples across the Western portion of North America not covered by ice age glaciers made stone spear points known as Clovis points about 11,500 years ago

(no Clovis material had been recovered from the Marmes Rockshelter site [1962-1969]) two orchard workers, Moises Aguirre and Mark Mickles, uncovered a cache of 11,000- to 12,000-year-old prehistoric tools known as Clovis points buried about twenty inches below the surface -- May 27, 1987

Mack and Susan Richey and Rick and Joanne Roberts jointly owned the East Wenatchee site on Grant Road in East Wenatchee

(This discovery did not receive any publicity initially, but by [1988] it had developed word-of-mouth interest)

BOEING 737 BECOMES THE MOST ORDERED AIRPLANE IN HISTORY

Boeing's 737 debuted [1967] -- it was smaller than the 707 and 727 it faced heavy competition from the Douglas DC-9 and the British Aircraft Corporation BAC-111 however, the 737 was quieter and vibrated less than other planes and could be flown with just a two-member flight crew

Orders for the Boeing 737 surpassed the 727 -- June 12, 1987 making it the most ordered commercial plane in history

TEACHERS IN TWO WASHINGTON STATE SCHOOL DISTRICTS GO ON STRIKE

Washington Education Association (WEA) led two teacher strikes

Edmonds teachers (EEA) struck for twenty-nine days -- 1987 settlement was reached on the day set for a court injunction hearing

Renton teachers (REA) struck for eight days to achieve an acceptable contract -- 1987 court involvement was not necessary to reach a successful settlement

GORDON HIRABAYASHI SUED THE U.S. OVER LOSS OF HIS CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS

(When Gordon Hirabayashi was a twenty-three University of Washington student, he was ordered into a Japanese internment camp he refused to enter the camp and was convicted of violating federal orders his conviction was upheld by U.S. Supreme Court [June 21, 1943]

Hirabayashi spend five months in jail and three months in a prison camp he never quit fighting the loss of his civil rights and to clear his name following World War II and his time in prison, Gordon Hirabayashi obtained his doctoral degree in sociology and became a professor)

More than forty years later Gordon Hirabayashi returned to court seeking redress he charged the federal government with "government misconduct" as federal prosecutors had intentionally concealed evidence that would have belied charges of disloyalty made against Japanese Americans in the [1940s]

U.S Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals San Francisco ruled unanimously

that Gordon Hirabayashi had been wrongly convicted -- September 24, 1987 (Gordon Hirabayashi passed away ([January 2, 2012]) President Barack Obama issued Hirabayashi the Medal of Freedom [June 5, 2012])

Medal of Freedom is the nation's highest civilian honor it is presented to individuals who have made especially meritorious contributions to the security or national interests of the United States, to world peace, or to cultural or other significant public or private endeavors

BLACK MONDAY STRIKES THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(United States economy began shifting from a rapidly growing recovery to a slower-growing expansion which resulted in a "soft landing" as the economy slowed and inflation dropped [1986] however, the stock market advanced significantly, with the Dow peaking at 2,722 [August 1987] forty-four percent over the previous year's closing of 1,895 points) As computer technology became more advanced, the use of "program trading" grew dramatically within Wall Street firms in "program trading" computers performed rapid stock executions based on external factors such as the price of related securities Dow Jones Industrial Average dropped 95.46 points (a then record) to 2412.70 October 14, 1987 then fell another fifty-eight points the next day When financial markets in London were unexpectedly closed due to the Great Storm of 1987, the Dow Jones Industrial Average fell down another 108.35 points to close at 2,246.74 on record volume -- Friday, October 16 that weekend many investors worried over their stock investments Black Monday crash began in Hong Kong -- Monday October 19, 1987 this crash spread west to Europe where huge amounts of value was lost in a very short time United States was hit after other markets had already declined by a significant margin Dow Jones Industrial Average dropped by 508 points to 1,738.74 -- a 22.61% loss in one day computers responded to falling prices with program selling when stock brokers stopped selling in spite of the demands of computer program trading prices began to rise and disaster was narrowly averted

STATE ELECTION EFFECTS ONLY THE STATE LEGISLATURE

Washington's Congressional delegation remained unchanged as five Democrat and three Republican congressmen were all returned to office In a State Senate run-off election -- November 3, 1987 Republican Linda A. Smith defeated Democrat Joe Tanner to represent the Eighteenth Legislative District in Cowlitz and Clark counties Republicans once again had a 25-to-24 edge in the State Senate State Senator Jeannette Hayner returned to the Majority Leader position she led the Senate through the 1987-[1992] sessions<sup>109</sup> (during those five years, including two more elections, Republicans held the majority by only a single seat it was a testament to her leadership that she kept twenty-five different caucus members with often-divergent views tightly disciplined and united Republicans could to stand up to the Democratic controlled State House of Representatives and popular Democratic Governor Booth Gardner

WORLD WAR II FORT LAWTON RIOT AND MURDER CASE IS REVISITED

KING-TV reporter Jack Hamann found Italian POW Guglielmo Olivotto's headstone in the Fort Lawton cemetery [1986]

Olivotto had been found hanged during the [May 17, 1944] Fort Lawton riot forty-three African American defendants faced life in prison if convicted in the largest and longest Army court-martial of World War II two black soldiers, Luther Larkin and William Jones, were convicted of the lynching during a riot involving U.S. soldiers and Italian prisoners of war Jack Hamann and his wife Leslie, curious about the incident, began a four-year effort to locate primary sources including documents and witnesses related to the case during several weeks of research at the National Archives in College Park, Maryland they came across General Elliot Cooke's newly-declassified report of the incident which indicated there were very serious shortcomings in the criminal investigation After months of research Hamann produced an Emmy Award winning one-hour special program for Seattle's NBC affiliate, KING-TV --1987 which accepted the then-conventional view that Olivotto had been lynched by black soldiers during the program several questions were raised about the prosecution of the case but no substantial evidence to refute prosecutor Leon Jaworski's case surfaced (Jack Hamann continued his investigation -- the more he probed the more injustice he found)

WORLD WAR II FORT LAWTON RIOT AND MURDER CASE IS RESOLVED

Jack Hamman published On American Soil How Justice Became a Casualty of WWII [2005] this was an account of his findings regarding the trial of forty-three African American defendants found guilty in the rioting and the lynching of Italian prisoner of war Guglielmo Olivotto

Hammon proved that the trial of the accused soldiers was unfair

As a result of On American Soil, Congress was asked to reinvestigate the trial by four of the soldiers Booker W. Townsell of Wisconsin, Luther L. Larkin of Arkansas, William G. Jones of Illinois and Samuel Snow of Florida only Snow was still alive as the others were represented by their families

Washington Congressman Jim McDermott and two other congressmen became involved after a year of deliberation, the Army's Board of Corrections of Military Records ruled that the black soldiers court-martialed in the death of Olivotto were unfairly denied access to their attorneys and to investigative records they should have their convictions overturned [October 2007]

Congressman McDermott noted: “Rarely has a book inspired legislation in the U.S. Congress, but that is exactly what happened with Jack Hamann’s On American Soil. I had barely finished reading it before I instructed my staff to introduce legislation directing the Secretary of the Army to re-open the cases of the African American soldiers, find the truth, and correct any injustice found. This is an important book, and I hope many more people have the opportunity to read it.”

-Congressman Jim McDermott

Eventually the convictions of twenty-eight of the black veterans were overturned an apology and honorable discharge was given to the falsely accused black soldiers at a ceremony held at Seattle’s Discovery Park near the former Fort Lawton chapel [July 26, 2008] Samuel Snow, the last of accused black soldiers, died of congestive heart failure at Virginia Mason hospital [July 27, 2008] thirteen hours after receiving an apology and his honorable discharge from the military)

BOEING DESIGNS AND BUILDS THE INTERNATIONAL SPACE STATION

NASA selected Boeing to be the prime contractor for design and construction of the science and living modules for the International Space Station -- December 1, 1987<sup>110</sup> (Boeing later would be designated overall prime contractor for the largest manned space project since the first Apollo moon landing effort [1969]) (Soviet Union began assembly of its own station, Mir, two years later [1989] as the competition became international and a focus of American national pride NASA’s original budget of $11 billion for the American space station quickly soared)

CANADA-UNITED STATES FREE TRADE (CFTA) AGREEMENT IS SIGNED

Efforts to develop a U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement (CFTA) were very controversial and divisive members of Canada’s Conservative Political Party were in support of an agreement

while the Liberal Party and New Democrat Party loudly opposed the agreement they said the agreement would erode Canadian sovereignty Canada would effectively become the “51st state” of the United States they were also concerned about how Canada’s social programs would be impacted in the United States the Free Trade Agreement faced much less opposition President Ronald Reagan put the proposed treaty on a “fast-track” which meant Congress had only a limited number of days to debate it and then had to either accept it or reject it in its entirety Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement was signed by the leaders of both countries -- January 2, 1988 this agreement phased out a wide range of trade restrictions in stages over a ten year period and resulted in a great increase in cross-border trade U.S. Polls showed that up to 40% of Americans were unaware that the agreement had been signed

SEATTLE HIP-HOP STAR, SIR MIX-A-LOT, EXPLODES ON THE MUSIC SCENE<sup>111</sup>

Sir Mix-A-Lot and KAFX (“KFOX”) Fresh Tracks radio DJ Nasty Nes Rodriguez joined local businessman and former KYAC DJ Ed Locke to form the “Nastymix” label [1985] “Nastymix” released Sir-Mix-A-Lot’s single record, “Posse On Broadway” -- 1988 which related the humorous tale of Mix and his crew’s antics while cruising Seattle’s streets this became a solid breakout hit, and “put Seattle on the rap map” (The Seattle Times)

HELEN THAYER EXPLORES THE MAGNETIC NORTH POLE<sup>112</sup>

(Explorer and educator Helen Thayer first decided to undertake an expedition to the magnetic North Pole [1986] her budget, roughly $10,000, was scraped together by Thayer and her husband, Bill because no corporation was willing to sponsor a fifty-year-old woman traveling alone to some of the most remote regions in the world Helen Thayer and her husband lived in the foothills of the western Cascades near Snohomish she spent two years planning and tirelessly training for her lonely expedition ten-mile runs in the mountains were supplemented by weight training, kayaking, and hiking these efforts acclimated her to the physical trials of the trip Helen Thayer arrived at Resolute Bay, Canada where she continued her training for several days route she would be traveling was, by all accounts, thick with the dangerous Arctic creatures that would see a solo traveler plodding slowly without a sled team as an easy target in Resolute Bay locals and guides insisted that if she did not have a sled team she must at least take one dog -- not just as a companion, but to warn of and protect against approaching polar bears she was presented with a ninety-four pound black husky mix that had been trained by the Inuits to be alert to the approach of bears Helen named him Charlie he proved to be a lifesaver and a beloved companion on her journey Thayer took a fifty-mile plane ride from Resolute Bay to her starting point of her 364-mile journey there she began pulling her own sled -- March 3, 1988 her most enduring pain came from what she calls "the first lesson of her journey" on her first day her meticulously packed sled had become jumbled from the airplane ride before she set out she allowed some well-meaning volunteers help her re-pack when temperatures plunged below minus 50 Fahrenheit, steady winds to cut any exposed skin as the cold intensified she struggled to find her warmest gloves she had as she had started out with a lighter pair knowing the placement of every item became extremely important although she found the misplaced gloves before full blown frost bite set in, her hands became blistered and for the entire duration of the journey they would crack and painfully bleed and ooze

It was not long before Charlie earned his keep on only the second day of their journey, Thayer and Charlie came across three polar bears, each was kept at bay with Charlie's barks and growls and Thayer's flares and warning shots Thayer's route was challenging enough but several storms caused her to stop for two or three days at a time as white-out conditions that camouflaged polar bears proved to be impossible to ski through Surviving on 5,000 calories a day, Thayer used high-energy crackers, energy bars, oatmeal, granola and peanut butter cups (both her and Charlie's favorite treat) to sustain their appetites although she carried fuel to melt water, she avoided over-use by treating herself to only luke-warm hot chocolate or oatmeal

Thayer carried with her a prototype GPS system to help determine coordinates, but its alkaline batteries allowed it to be used only to check her coordinates at magnetic north relying on sun dials and Local Apparent Noon (LAN) charts, she was able to determine her location throughout the journey her sled carried an odometer, but she also perfected a two-mile-per-hour pace across ice to use in case of mechanical failure

On the nineteenth day of her journey, Helen Thayer made it to the magnetic North Pole, north of the Wallis River on King Christian Island she left a few personal mementos, and planted a United States flag, a Canadian flag, and the New Zealand flag of her birthplace -- mid-March 1988

HELEN THAYER'S RETURN IS MORE DIFFICULT THAN THE OUTBOUND ADVENTURE<sup>113</sup>

Thayer's return trip to her rendezvous point proved to be the most challenging part of the journey only a day after reaching the pole, she was confronted by a sudden storm that not only badly cut her face with ice, but much more seriously, blew away her food supply

Seven days would be required to ski to her rendezvous point

Thayer was left with only a single daily ration of five walnuts and a pint of water from 5,000 calories a day, she now had to survive for a week on 700 calories, total

Charlie received daily half-rations most of her fuel was gone leaving her no way to melt the vast expanses of snow and ice around her

On the twenty-seventh day of the expedition, Helen Thayer and Charlie finally made it to their rendezvous point -- March 30, 1988

Helen Thayer became the first woman to solo to the magnetic North Pole she completed her 364-mile journey despite starvation and incessant danger from polar bears this trip becomes the basis for her [1994] book

Polar Dream: The First Solo Expedition by a Woman and Her Dog to the Magnetic North Pole

other books about additional adventures she accomplished include:

- Three Among the Wolves: A year of Friendship with Wolves in the Wild* (2004),
- Trekking the Gobi: Desert of Dreams and Despair* [2008] (Helen Thayer founded Adventure Classroom -- a non-profit educational program for students her experiences, writing, and photography provide the basis for lectures, lessons and teaching tools she has lectured to more than one million students in schools across the world since 1988 she continues to present photographic programs of exploration to students and to adult groups nationwide

Helen Thayer's adventures have continued nonstop:

- she trekked 1,500 miles through Death Valley and the Mojave and Sonoran deserts [1990],
- she spent her 60th birthday on a solo walk in Antarctica [1997],
- she returned walked 1,200 miles across New Zealand to study the Maori culture [1999]

IRAN-CONTRA AFFAIR RESULTS IN INDICTMENTS OF FEDERAL OFFICIALS

Indictments were handed down to Iran-Contra participants -- March 16, 1988

National Security Advisor John Poindexter, Nation Security Council member Oliver North,

Air Force General Richard Secord and businessman Albert Hakim were all indicted on twenty-three counts -- some of the charges were dropped when the Bush Administration

EAST WENATCHEE PREHISTORIC COLVIS CULTURE SITE IS INVESTIGATED<sup>114</sup>

Washington State University sent a team of scientists arrived to examine the site

Peter J. Mehringer led the team of local and national authorities in Paleo-Indian Archaeology along with members of the Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation -- April 1988

They discovered twenty-two more stone and bone tools to add to those previously discovered [1987]

in addition to spear points, other artifacts recovered included a chopper, scrapers, blades, bifacial (two-edged) knives, an engraving tool and three flaked stone axes or adzes some of the artifacts tested positive for the presence of blood one knife tested positive for human blood which could indicate an accidental self-inflicted cut during the butchering process only five of the artifacts were removed for laboratory study

U.S. SENATOR DAN EVANS ANNOUNCES HE WOULD NOT SEEK REELECTION

Washington's Republican U.S. Senator Daniel J. Evans wrote an article entitled "Why I'm Quitting the Senate" in the New York Times Magazine -- April 1988

he complained: "I came to Washington with a slightly romantic notion of the Senate...I looked forward to the duel of debate, the exchange of ideas. What I found was a legislative body that had lost its focus and was in danger of losing its soul.

In the United States Senate, debate has come to consist of set speeches read before a largely empty chamber; and in committees, quorums are rarely achieved. I have lived through five years of bickering and protracted paralysis. Five years is enough. I just can't face another six years of frustrating gridlock."<sup>115</sup>

BLUE RIBBON COMMISSION ON SCHOOL REFORM ISSUES THEIR REPORT

After a three-year study, Washington State Economic Development Board, a twenty-eight-member coalition of business, education, labor and legislative representatives issued their report -- 1988

- their ideas included emphasizing "core competencies" and statewide testing for graduation;
- assessment of student progress not necessarily based on standardized tests;
- they recommended the minimum teacher salary be "raised to equal industry standards" but proposed that both teachers' and administrators' pay increases be based on "performance criteria" measured on the district level -- not by the state;

- this report also recommended the state adopt a “choice” system to allow parents greater latitude in selecting their children’s schools;
- competencies, which the report said should be attained before ninth grade, would include basic literacy and numeracy, critical-thinking skills, citizenship and values, science and technology, proficiency with calculators and computers, appreciation of arts and humanities and good work habits;
- each schools’ curriculum should be “individualized” to allow for different teaching methods as well as to permit students to learn at their own speed each student would be required to learn a foreign language and to study other cultures;
- finally, public support for preschool programs for disadvantaged children would be expanded

ENDANGERED SPECIES ACT IS AMENDED TO PROTECT THE NORTHERN SPOTTED OWL<sup>116</sup>

(Endangered Species Act had passed Congress [1973] it strengthened protections for all plant and animal species listed by the U.S. government as threatened or endangered and required federal agencies to avoid jeopardizing their survival it also required action be undertaken to promote the recovery of the species consideration of economic factors to achieve the goal of recovery and delisting was prohibited from the listing process specific information must be included in each endangers species report:

- description of “site-specific” management actions to make the plan as explicit as possible,
- “objective, measurable criteria” to judge when and how well a species is recovering)

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service declined to list the northern spotted owl as an endangered species environmentalists sued the Fish and Wildlife Service to force the listing of the species -- 1988 in the litigation, the agency admitted it had taken into account economics and politics in its decision not to list -- 1988 however, by law economics and politics were not to be considered in listing a species

UNITED STATES FACES ONE OF THE WORST DROUGHTS EVER

(During the [spring] records for lowest monthly total rainfall and longest interval between measurable precipitation were set, for example, Milwaukee went fifty-five days in a row without rain)

This drought was widespread, unusually intense and accompanied by heat waves -- summer 1988 at its peak, the drought covered 45% of the United States it caused crop damage in many states estimated to be in excess of $60 billion

Two record-setting heat waves developed during the summer (exactly as they did in [1934] and [1936]) between 4,800 to 17,000 people and an unknown number of livestock across the U.S. were killed many forest fires occurred in Western North America including the exceptionally destructive Yellowstone National Park fire drought-related losses in Canada added up to about 1.8 billion dollars

Causes of the drought focused on farmers developing land which was only marginally arable and the pumping of groundwater almost to the point of depletion

RELIGIOUS FUNDAMENTALISM SWEEPS ACROSS AMERICA

Since the early Twentieth Century conservative members of various Protestant denominations have maintained a literal and personal interpretation of the Bible it is fundamental to conservative Christians that Biblical teachers be taken seriously United States Supreme Court decisions ran counter to conservative religious beliefs state-sanctioned prayer in public schools was prohibited in Engel v. Vitale [1962] mandatory Bible reading in public schools was prohibited

Abington School District v. Schempp [1963]

Christian Fundamentalists began to resist perceived threats to traditional religious values “secular humanism,” Communism, feminism, legalized abortion and homosexuality were specifically identified as concerns teaching of evolution in schools was opposed creationism or intelligent design advocated as replacements in the curriculum fundamentalists also attacked teaching scientific theories on the origins of the universe

Televangelists reached out to fundamentalists across the nation

Moral Majority, founded by the fundamentalist Baptist pastor Jerry Falwell [1979] was the most visible example of this new trend

Christian Coalition, headed by Southern Baptist Pat Robertson forged new alliances composed of moderate fundamentalists and conservative evangelicals an aggressive political campaign to institute Christian Fundamentalism was undertaken Approximately one-quarter of Americans describe themselves as fundamentalists during the [1980s] they made up a large portion of the new Christian right that helped put Ronald Reagan into the White House

Washington Republicans in their state convention gave presidential hopeful Pat Robertson his only state victory over candidate George Bush -- 1988

CONCERNS ABOUT SEATTLE’S BUSING PROGRAM SPREADS ACROSS THE CITY<sup>117</sup>

While initial opposition to race-based student busing came primarily from white parents voices of dissent also were heard from tolerant groups as well -- by the late 1980s including some of the same white liberals and African Americans who had endorsed busing Critics complained the Seattle Plan:

- unfairly burdened children of color;
- contributed to a widening achievement gap between white and minority students;
- undermined public confidence in the schools, particularly among middle-class parents;
- left some schools under-enrolled while others were over-enrolled,
- was too costly and complex

Seattle School Board members responded to the escalating criticism by replacing the Seattle Plan with a “controlled-choice” system -- 1988 this new plan allowed parents to select their children’s schools from within a prescribed cluster of schools -- if their choice maintained racial balance

INDIAN FISH HATCHERIES RECEIVES A BOOST

CONGRESS PROVIDES FINANCIAL REDRESS TO INCARCERATED JAPANESE AMERICANS

Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians was formed to investigate the losses suffered by Japanese Americans during World War II [1980] Following the findings of the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians, Congress passed the Civil Liberties Act of 1988 this law was passed at least in part due to the acquittal of U.W. student Gordon Hirabayashi by this U.S. Court of Appeals [1987] which overturned his conviction for refusing to enter a Japanese Internment Camp during World War II President Ronald Reagan signed Public Law 100-383 -- August 10, 1988 this granted reparations to Japanese Americans who had been interred by the United States during World War II legislation stated that government actions were based on “race prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership” surviving internees were to receive about $20,000 in compensation and a presidential apology it also established an education fund that supported efforts to educate Americans about the wartime incarceration to help ensure it would not happen again<sup>118</sup> Public Law 100-383 was supported by the majority of Democrats in Congress while the majority of Republicans voted against it (funds were approved for the U.S. Attorney General to pay out to the rest of the claimants [1999])

STATE DEMOCRATIC PARTY PRIMARY ELECTION SELECTS CANDIDATES

When U.S. Senator Dan Evans announced he would not seek reelection, Democratic Congressman Mike Lowry resigned his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives to run for the position -- September 1988 Democratic Congressman Don Bonker also resigned his seat to run for the same position U.S. Representative Mike Lowry won the Democratic Primary Election to face Slade Gorton Democrat Jim McDermott had served the Forty-Third Legislative District in the State House of Representatives [1971-1973] and the State Senate [1975-1987] while there he crafted and sponsored the Washington State Basic Health Plan the first such state program in the country to offer health insurance to the unemployed and the working poor McDermott resigned his State Senate seat to run for the Seventh Congressional seat vacated by U.S. Representative Mike Lowry in his bid for the U.S. Senate Democrat Jolene Unsoeld served in the State House of Representatives for the Twenty-second District where she had been an active advocate for open government she pushed for open meetings and open public records she also was concerned about nuclear power plants and costs imposed on rate payers State Representative Unsoeld filed to run for Congressman Don Bonker's now open Third Congressional District seat

FIRST COMPUTER WORM DISTRIBUTED THROUGH THE INTERNET IS LAUNCHED

"Morris worm" was written by Robert Tappan Morris a student at Cornell University this worm was launched from Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) -- November 2, 1988 According to its creator, the Morris worm was not written to cause damage, but rather to gauge the size of the Internet however, the worm was released from MIT to disguise the fact it had originally come from Cornell computers could be infected multiple times -- each infection would slow the machine down

eventually to the point of being unusable Morris worm was considered the first computer worm it was certainly the first to gain significant mainstream media attention (Robert Morris was tried and convicted of violating the 1988 Computer Fraud and Abuse Act [1990] after appeals he was sentenced to three years of probation, 400 hours of community service and a fine of $10,000)

NATIONAL ELECTION SEES A SIGNIFICANT SHIFT ON THE NATIONAL SCENE

Conservative political Republican leaders from the far right effectively campaigned for the current Vice President and Presidential Candidate George H.W. Bush who swept forty states as he beat Democratic candidate Michael Dukakis -- November 8, 1988 to become the first sitting Vice President in 200 years, to be elected as President Washington's U.S. Senator Daniel J. Evans was replaced by Republican former-U.S. Senator Slade Gorton -- November 8, 1988 when he defeated liberal Congressman Mike Lowry by a narrow margin Gorton became the only state politician elected to both U.S. Senate seats at differing times he held both Warren G. Magnuson's (Position 2) and Henry M. Jackson's (Position 1)

Two new Democratic representatives are elected to Congress former-State Representative Democrat Jolene Unsoeld was elected to the Third Congressional seat vacated by Congressman Don Bonker in his bid for the U.S. Senate against Slade Gorton Congresswoman Unsoeld held the position for three terms [1989-1995] former-State Senator Jim McDermott was elected to the Seventh Congressional seat vacated by Congressman Mike Lowry in his bid for the U.S. Senate against Slade Gorton Congressman McDermott has served many terms in the U.S. House of Representatives In the State Legislature, Republicans regained their State Senate majority by one seat but lost two seats in the State House of Representatives giving Democrats a 63-35 majority

JUDGE ROBERT DORAN MAKES HIS THIRD RULING ON EDUCATION FUNDING

State Superior Court Judge Robert Doran issued a decision on the special education funding formula he ruled the state could fund special education based on assumptions about statewide averages which limited the state's financial obligation as long as a "safety net" was provided for school districts with above-average costs -- November 22, 1988 Washington State was obligated to spend sufficiently on special education but this judgment did not order the legislature to take any particular action

U.S. SUPREME COURT SEALS THEODORE ROBERT "TED" BUNDY'S FATE

U.S. Supreme Court denied a motion to review the federal Eleventh Circuit Court ruling that required the execution of Ted Bundy -- December 1988 new execution of [January 24, 1989] was announced

With all appeals exhausted and no further motivation to deny his crimes,

Ted Bundy agreed to speak frankly with investigators about his killing spree he confessed to all eight of the Washington and Oregon homicides for which he was the prime suspect he described three additional previously unknown victims in Washington and two in Oregon whom he declined to identify (if he ever knew their identities) to detectives from Idaho, Utah, and Colorado, Bundy confessed to additional homicides, including several of which the police were still unaware he explained that in Utah he could bring his victims back to his apartment however, an ulterior motive quickly became apparent for Bundy's willingness to talk during his confessions he withheld many details, hoping the incomplete information would force yet another stay of execution he said there were additional remains buried in Colorado but refused to elaborate this new strategy only strengthened public resolve to see him executed on schedule

U.S. SENATE SUB-COMMITTEE ISSUES A REPORT ON NICARAGUAN CONTRA ACTIVITIES

U.S. Senator John Kerry (D-Massachusetts) chaired a Senate Foreign Relations Sub-Committee on Narcotics and International Terrorism that issued its preliminary report -- December 1988

Kerry's committee stated National Security Council staff member Lieutenant-Colonel Oliver North and other senior officials in an effort to cover for their Contra operations had created a privatized network that attracted drug traffickers these officials then turned a blind eye to repeated reports of Contra drug smuggling and actively worked with known drug smugglers such as Panamanian dictator Manuel Noriega to assist the Contras it did not report that U.S. government officials ran drugs

WPPSS LAWSUIT IS SETTLED IN COURT

Washington Public Power Supply system (WPPSS) reached a $753 million settlement with Public Utility Districts (PUDs) and their customers -- December 24, 1988 some of the PUD's approximately 75,000 bondholders would receive forty cents on every dollar invested others got as little as ten cents on the dollar (In a later court settlement it was found that some of the bond monies for WPPSS Hanford Plant 4 and Satsop Plant 5 had been spent on Hanford Plant 1 and Satsop Plant 3 thus participants in Plants 1 and 3 also were held liable for the default Seattle's share was $50 million, of which $43.2 million came from insurance companies the last settlement was reached [1995])<sup>119</sup>

THEODORE ROBERT "TED" BUNDY IS PUT TO DEATH

Ted Bundy lived on Florida's death row for nine years and five months shortly before his death he confessed to eight killings in Washington and two in Utah he was a suspect in none of these cases

Bundy also confessed to two homicides in Oregon without identifying the victims seventeen year old Rita Lorraine Jolly disappeared from West Linn, Oregon [June 29, 1973] twenty-four-year-old Vicki Lynn Hollar disappeared from Eugene, Oregon [August 20, 1973]

Ted Bundy died in the electric chair at Raiford Prison in Starke, Florida for the murder of twelve-year-old Kimberly Ann Leach -- 7:16 a.m. January 24, 1989

Bundy's remains were cremated in Gainesville, Florida his ashes were scattered at an undisclosed location in the Cascade Mountains of Washington

Ted Bundy's biographer, Ann Rule, described him as "... a sadistic sociopath who took pleasure from another human's pain and the control he had over his victims, to the point of their death, and even after."<sup>120</sup>

He once called himself "...the most cold-hearted son of a bitch you'll ever meet."<sup>121</sup>

Polly Nelson, a member of his last defense team, agreed:

"Ted was the very definition of heartless evil."<sup>122</sup>

TED BUNDY REMAINS THE PRIME SUSPECT IN SEVERAL UNSOLVED HOMICIDES

It was believed he committed at least thirty-six murders and possibly more than 100

Bundy is the primary suspect in two unsolved cases flight attendants Lisa E. Wick and Lonnie Trumbull, both twenty, were bludgeoned with a piece of lumber as they slept in their apartment in Seattle's Queen Anne Hill district [June 23, 1966] near a Safeway store where Bundy worked at the time

Bundy denied involvement and no direct evidence implicates him vacationing college friends Susan Davis and Elizabeth Perry, both nineteen, were stabbed to death [May 30, 1969] near Somers Point, New Jersey because he was wearing a leg cast due to an automobile accident there is no record of any such accident

IT IS DISCOVERED THAT EVIDENCE IN THE IRAN-CORNTA AFFAIR WAS DESTROYED

At the trial of fired National Security Council staff member Lieutenant-Colonel Oliver North it was discovered that he had destroyed, altered or hidden documents pertinent to Iran-Contra (between [November 21] and [November 25, 1986])

During the trial North's secretary, Fawn Hall, testified -- February 19, 1989 to helping North alter, shred and remove from the White House official United States National Security Council documents

North's explanation for destroying some documents was that he wanted to protect the lives of individuals involved in the Iran and Contra operations during his trial North testified that on [November 21, 22, or 24], he witnessed National Security adviser Admiral John Poindexter destroy what may have been the only signed copy of a presidential covert-action finding that authorized CIA participation in the [November 1985] missile shipment to Iran also at the 1989 trial, U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese admitted that profits from weapons sales to Iran were made available to assist the Contra rebels in Nicaragua

FIRST OF THE IRAN-CONTRA CONSPIRATORS IS CONVICTED

Boeing contracted to build six prototypes of the V-22 Osprey, a tilt rotor aircraft this innovative aircraft first successfully flew -- March 19, 1989

ENVIRONMENTAL DISASTER STRIKES PRINCE WILLIAM SOUND, ALASKA

Exxon Valdez carried approximately fifty-five million gallons of Prudhoe Bay, Alaska crude oil she left the Alyeska Pipeline terminal at Valdez, Alaska bound for Long Beach, California -- March 24, 1989 three hours out the Exxon Valdez struck Bligh Reef in Prince William Sound and ran aground spilling somewhere between eleven and thirty-two million gallons of crude oil this was one of the most devastating human-caused environmental disasters to that time oil eventually covered 1,300 miles of coastline and 11,000 square miles of ocean Prince William Sound's remote location, accessible only by helicopter, airplane and boat, made government and industry response efforts difficult and severely taxed existing response plans Several factors were identified as causes for the disaster:

- Coast Guard tanker inspections in Valdez, Alaska were not done;
- number of staff on board the Exxon Valdez was reduced crew was half the size of the [1977] crew -- they worked 12-14 hour shifts plus overtime;
- tanker crews were not told the Coast Guard had ceased tracking ships out to Bligh reef;
- third mate failed to properly maneuver the vessel, possibly due to fatigue or excessive workload;
- Exxon Shipping Company failed to supervise the captain neither a rested nor adequate number of crew were on board at the time;

- Exxon Shipping Company failed to properly maintain the radar warning system;
- Exxon Shipping Company promised, but never installed, iceberg monitoring equipment;

Exxon Valdez caused over $300 million of economic harm to more than thirty-two thousand people whose livelihoods depended on commercial fishing

Clean-up was undertaken using high-pressure hot-water and dispersants such as detergents, wetting agents, emulsifiers and solvents to prevent settling or clumping, burning off the oil was attempted but discontinued due to unfavorable weather mechanical cleanup using booms and skimmers was not possible at first due to lack of equipment -- later thick oil and kelp tended to clog the equipment cleanup required about 10,000 workers, 1,000 boats and roughly 100 airplanes and helicopters four deaths were directly associated with cleanup efforts

Exxon Oil Company was widely criticized for its slow response to cleaning up despite the extensive cleanup attempts, less than ten percent of the oil was recovered

Both the long-term and short-term effects of the oil spill have been studied immediate effects included the deaths of some 100,000 to as many as 250,000 seabirds, at least 2,800 sea otters, approximately twelve river otters, 300 harbor seals, 900 Bald Eagles, and twenty-two orcas (killer whales) were killed

(eleven members [about half] of one resident pod disappeared in the following year) later studies discovered reductions in population in various ocean animals, and stunted growth in pink salmon populations sea otters and ducks also showed higher death rates in following years partially because they ingested prey from contaminated soil and partially from ingestion of oil residues on hair and feathers due to grooming (twelve years after, oil was still found on half of ninety-one randomly selected beaches

(some twenty years after the spill, a team from the University of North Carolina found that the effects were lasting far longer than expected)

U.S. SENATE NARCOTICS AND INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM COMMITTEE'S REPORT

U.S. Senator John Kerry (D-Massachusetts) issued a final report on the Iran-Contra affair conducted by his Narcotics and International Terrorism sub-committee -- April 13, 1989 three years after its investigation began and six months after George Bush, Sr. was elected President of the United States

Narcotics and International Terrorism Committee confirmed the Contra-drug connection was real although the Reagan Administration, Congress, and much of the media had attempted to dismiss it

Oliver North and members of the President's Administration were accused of illegally funding and supplying armed militants without the authorization of Congress

Kerry's sub-committee report found that “the Contra drug links included...payments to drug traffickers by the U.S. State Department of funds authorized by the Congress for humanitarian assistance to the Contras, in some cases after the traffickers had been indicted by federal law enforcement agencies on drug charges, in others while traffickers were under active investigation by these same agencies.”<sup>124</sup> it was also reported the U.S. State Department paid over $806,000 to known drug traffickers to carry humanitarian assistance to the Contras<sup>125</sup>

CELEBRATION HELD BY SIR MIX-A-LOT IN SEATTLE'S OLYMPIC HOTEL<sup>126</sup>

Success of Sir Mix-A-Lot and the “Nastymix” label became a cause for celebration -- April 29, 1989 this party was one for the ages: it was glamorous and fun -- a Northwest music watershed moment held in the Spanish Ballroom of the posh Olympic Hotel a truly remarkable choice for a loud, flashy hip-hop party representatives from record sales, radio, MTV, BET, and more were flown in at label expense from around the country they lined the block decked out in tuxedos and furs as cameras flashed and limos circled the street red-leather-clad gatekeeper/toastmaster proceeded to grandly announce each guest as they entered the room

COLONEL OLIVER NORTH IS FOUND GUILTY IN THE IRAN-CONTRA AFFAIR

National Security Council member Oliver North was found guilty on three of twelve counts he was convicted of accepting an illegal gratuity, obstruction of a congressional inquiry and destruction of documents -- May 4, 1989 but the ruling was overturned since he had been granted immunity by a federal judge

WASHINGTON STATE'S POLITICAL LEGEND DIES<sup>127</sup>

Former U.S. Senator Warren Grant “Maggy” Magnuson passed away -- May 20, 1989 he was Washington's longest serving United States Senator he used his seniority and remarkable persuasive skills to enact legislation that profoundly affected many aspects of life for all Americans: •he helped define twentieth-century America by increasing civil rights;

- he mandated corporate accountability;
- he funded medical research;
- he played a major role in passage of many other laws, including those that established public television, gave 18-year-olds the right to vote and created Amtrak

Born in Moorhead, Minnesota he was adopted at birth by William and Emma Magnuson he was nicknamed “Maggie” when he quarterbacked his Moorhead high school football team Magnuson never particularly liked the nickname his family and close friends always called him Warren

Warren Magnuson followed his high school sweetheart to Seattle [1925] and enrolled at the University of Washington he graduated a year later and entered law school while in college, Magnuson worked delivering ice as a member of the Teamsters Union legendary labor leader Dave Beck and Magnuson became close allies

Warren was active in the gubernatorial campaign of Democratic activist Scott Bullitt [1928]

Magnuson became secretary (director) of the Seattle Municipal League [1930-1931]

he served as special prosecutor investigating official misconduct for King County [1932]

Warren G. Magnuson was elected to the State House of Representatives [1933-1935] he formed close alliances with other emerging Democratic leaders especially newly elected U.S. Senator Homer T. Bone and his campaign manager Saul Haas

Magnuson supervised passage of a bill that created a $10 million bond issue to hire unemployed workers on public works projects this was one of the nation’s first unemployment relief acts

Magnuson moved on to become King County Prosecutor [1934-1936] he won the long-held Republican position with the support of his Seattle business contacts Magnuson was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives and served four terms [1937-1945] when his friend Democratic Congressman Marion Zioncheck leaped to his death

Magnuson received strong union backing and the endorsement of the Washington Commonwealth Federation, a left-wing alliance of liberal Democrats that included many Communist Party members while in Congress during World War II he served for several months on the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise during World War II he secured millions of dollars in appropriations for the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard in Bremerton -- then the state’s largest employer he sponsored bills that created the National Cancer Institute and the Alaska International Highway Commission

U.S. Representative Magnuson combined hard work with a flamboyant bachelor lifestyle he was known for his hard drinking -- which rarely seemed to affect him, he frequented racetracks and loved poker games, he lived in first-class hotels, the Olympic in Seattle and the Shoreham in Washington, D.C., he spent time in Hollywood, Las Vegas, and New York City he enjoyed the company of many women and was linked in the press with various Hollywood starlets

When U.S. Senator Homer T. Bone was appointed to the U.S. Court of Appeals, Congressman Warren G. Magnuson ran for the open U.S. Senate seat [1944]

Senator Magnuson served six terms (thirty-six years) he chaired the Commerce Committee for many years he was a key member of the powerful Appropriations Committee which he eventually chaired he became President Pro Tempore of the U.S. Senate the highest office a U.S. Senator can attain Magnuson's personality was a key to his remarkable ability to move legislation smoothly unlike many politicians, he lived by the rule "Never hold a grudge."<sup>128</sup> as today's opponent could be a needed vote tomorrow

Magnuson's power in Washington, D.C., was enhanced by his close friendships with many of the eight presidents he served under:

- he regularly played poker with Roosevelt and his successor, Harry S. Truman,
- the night before John F. Kennedy was inaugurated, Magnuson was the only guest to stay at the home of the newly elected president,
- Magnuson was closest to Lyndon B. Johnson beginning from the time they served together on the House Naval Affairs Committee President Johnson took the time from his duties to be Magnuson's best man [1964] when Maggy married Jermaine Peralta, a widow with a young daughter who worked at the Olympic Hotel jewelry store

Magnuson changed the face of Washington State with his U.S. Senate legislation:

- he supported construction of dams on the Columbia River to provide both public hydroelectric power and water to irrigate the arid Columbia Basin eight federally subsidized dams were built on the Columbia [by 1954], he reorganized the Northwest's electric power structure
- he was the individual most responsible for the Northwest economy and its quality of life:
  - he funded restoration of the Pike Place Market,
  - he insisted the route of Interstate-82 be shifted closer to the Tri-Cities of Richland, Kennewick, and Pasco,

-he saw that highway spurs were built to the Tri-cities and to downtown Tacoma,
-he assured that federal highway funds were appropriated for roads serving the submarine base that U.S. Senator Henry Jackson convinced the Pentagon to locate at Bangor, U.S. Senators Magnuson and Jackson served together for twenty-eight years they gave Washington State one of the most powerful Senate duos in American history “Scoop and Maggie” brought a steady stream of contracts for leading state employers especially Boeing together they used their legislative skill and seniority to win Washington State an unprecedented share of federal funds

U.S. Senator Warren Grant Magnuson is credited with an amazing array of Congressional legislation he secured appropriations for two World’s Fairs, preserved the Pike Place Market, replaced the West Seattle Bridge and provided disaster relief after Mt. St. Helens erupted he funded Health Care and Research which resulted in creating the National Cancer Institute and the National Institutes of Health -- the world’s largest medical research facilities he established the National Health Service Corps which provided funds for doctors to serve communities lacking medical care as Chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, he is known for consumer protection including:

- Safe Drinking Water Act, Fair Credit Advertising Act, Door-to-Door Sales Act and laws that required warnings on cigarettes,
- he regulated automobile safety and required manufacturers to live up to their warranties,
- he set standards for children’s toys,
- Flammable Fabrics Act protected children by requiring that sleepwear be flame resistant,
- Magnuson guided through the Commerce Committee the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act which originated the requirement that all food products be accurately labeled with their ingredients and quantity at the request of President Lyndon Johnson, Senator Magnuson shepherded through a deeply divided Congress the most controversial section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act Title II outlawed racial discrimination in public accommodations such as hotels, restaurants, transportation facilities and theaters

Senator Magnuson was able to eliminate the “Chinese exclusion” provisions of U.S. immigration laws that dated back to the anti-Chinese agitation in the [1880s] -- 1965 he was also the leading, and at times almost the only, Congressional advocate of normalized relations and trade with Communist China he argued that hundreds of millions of people could not be written off simply because of their form of government -- trade and contact, not isolation, was the best means to influence China

Senator Magnuson derived personal satisfaction from his work to protect the marine environment

Maggy and his staff drafted and got Congress to pass the Marine Mammal Protection Act [1972] MMPA played a central role in preserving local seal, sea lion, sea otter and whale populations when the MMPA came up for reauthorization [1977] he attached an amendment to it that prohibited construction of new oil ports in state waters east of Port Angeles effectively banning supertankers from Washington waters

U.S. Senator Warren G. Magnuson's achievements are commemorated in Warren G. Magnuson Park located along Lake Washington on the former Sand Point Naval Air Station property that the senator acquired for Seattle and Warren G. Magnuson Health Sciences Center at the University of Washington Medical Center that he did so much to fund however, his most lasting legacy lives on in the laws that continue to promote health care, prohibit discrimination, make products safer, protect the marine environment and much more

Senator Magnuson explained his success in a television interview: “I had no trouble explaining my case to other senators. I didn't have any feuds. It was never a matter of wheeling and dealing. When you are through with an issue you don't hold a grudge. There's always another day. If you play it that way, they [colleagues] respect you. You must be courteous. After all, you're among people who have to live together ten months out of the year. But, so many hold grudges.”<sup>129</sup>

Presidential candidate (then Senator) Eugene McCarthy summed up the senator:

“Maggie is the most loved man in the Senate.”<sup>130</sup>

McNEIL ISLAND PENITENTIARY PROVES VERY EXPENSIVE TO OPERATE

Department of Corrections performed a study -- 1989 which revealed that McNeil Island was one of the most expensive prisons in the state to operate<sup>131</sup> its island location added to the cost, but the main reason was the prison's small size

McCaw Cellular Becomes One of the Best Known Brands in the Business

Craig McCaw bid $3.5 billion to purchase LIN Broadcasting, a national cell phone network -- 1989

McCaw had previously acquired licenses in the markets he needed to consolidate his system Wall Street looked with horror at the company's gargantuan debt, but Craig McCaw knew he could resell individual cellular licenses at a profit to any regional buyer McCaw Cellular now dwarfed its competitors making it almost impossible for a serious competitor to enter the field

McCaw also entered the fields of television broadcasting and specialty publishing

NORTHERN SPOTTED OWL IS PLACED ON THE ENDANGERED SPECIES LIST<sup>132</sup>

(Fish and Wildlife Service had declined to list the Northern Spotted Owl as an endangered species [1987] and was sued by environmental groups during litigation it was disclosed that the agency had used economic and political considerations in making its decision -- a situation specifically prohibited by law thus the decision was ordered to be reconsidered)

Fish and Wildlife Service agency announced the bird would be listed -- June 1989 (northern spotted owl was officially listed as an endangered species [June 23, 1990])

SEATTLE SCHOOL DISTRICT INTEGRATION PROGRAM REMAINS CONTROVERSIAL

Seattle School District's "Controlled Choice" system was attacked by anti-busing city leaders who filed Initiative-34 -- June 15, 1989

I-34 was authored by City Attorney Doug Jewett who opposed student busing for integration purposes I-34 proposed that six percent of the city's revenue be used to improve neighborhood schools in exchange for an end to mandatory desegregation busing in the Seattle School District (enough signatures were gathered to place anti-busing initiative on the [November] ballot)

SEATTLE CITY COUNCILMAN NORM RICE ENTERS THE SEATTLE MAYOR'S RACE

Norm Rice had three times been elected to the Seattle City Council [1979], [1983], and [1987] he was the second African American councilman after Sam Smith (first elected [1967]) crew had rice from the cargo and fish from the sea to eat they were able to collect rainwater and to desalinate seawater for drinking but they had no access to Vitamin C by the time the ship ran aground near Cape Flattery [January 1834] all but three of the crew had died -- probably of scurvy Survivors were three young men, Iwakichi, 28; Kyukichi, 15, and Otokichi, 14, “Three kichis” as they were called all were from the village of Onoura in the township of Mihama on the opposite side of the island of Honshu from Tokyo they were found by a group of Makah Indian seal hunters and briefly held as slaves when word of their capture reached Hudson’s Bay Company Chief Factor John McLoughlin he had them ransomed and brought to Fort Vancouver “Three kichis” stayed at Fort Vancouver for about five months where they learned a little English McLoughlin arranged to send them to Hudson’s Bay headquarters in London [November 1834] he thought the British government could use the men to establish trade relations with Japan After a brief stay in London, all but one day was confined to their ship, all three sailors were sent the rest of the way around the world to the southern China port city of Macao after a six-month journey from London they arrived [June 1835] they were handed over to a German missionary and linguist in Macao Two years later in the hope of opening trade with Japan an American merchant, Charles W. King, attempted to return the “Three kichis” to Japan on one of his ships but his ship was twice greeted with cannon fire, first when it sailed into Edo Bay then when it approached Kagoshima Bay he gave up and returned to Macao “Three kichis” lived the rest of their lives as exiles

TWO SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN WASHINGTON STATE EXPERIENCE STRIKES

by school district administration for two days before school opened received the Nobel Prize for Physics for their work on isolating individual electrons and ions and making exact measurements of them -- October 12, 1989 German-born Dehmelt became a University of Washington professor [1955] he said his interest in atomic particles went back to the age of ten when he was an amateur radio operator

SEATTLE ELECTS ITS FIRST AFRICAN AMERICAN MAYOR<sup>135</sup>

Norm Rice, a ten-year member of the Seattle City Council, defeated Seattle City Attorney Doug Jewett in a hotly contested campaign for mayor -- November 7, 1989 by a vote of: 99,699 to 75,446 Rice was motivated to run for the position by the successful signature gathering campaign of I-34 which was an effort to stop mandatory desegregation school busing Ironically, in the same election, I-34 narrowly passed: 71,286 - 70,159 (Norm Rice devoted much of his first term to strengthening city support for Seattle Public Schools, promoting human rights, and to revitalizing the downtown economy (he easily won re-election [1993])
